Quicquid agunt Homines, noſtri eſt Farrago Libelli. JUVENAL.

An ESSAY on the influences of opinions upon the Manners and Happineſs of Mankind.

THE Philoſopher has no right to eſteem or value himſelf, but when he contributes to the welfare of his fellow creatures; the applauſes of his conſcience are then only lawful and neceſſary when he knows he deſerves them. In a world blinded by prejudice, this ideal recompence is, alas! almoſt the only one that is left to virtue. Let the philoſopher, therefore eſteem himſelf when he has done good; let him congratulate himſelf upon being free from thoſe vain deſires, thoſe vices and ſhameful paſſions, thoſe imaginary wants, with which others are tormented, but let him not compare himſelf with his fellow creatures in ſuch a manner as to ſhock their ſelf love. If he thinks himſelf happier than they, let him not inſult their wretchedneſs; above all, let him not plunge them in deſpair. The friend of wiſdom ought to be the friend of men; he ought to ſympathize with them in their affliction; he ought to comfort and encourage them. A love of mankind, an enthuſiaſm for public good, ſenſibility, humanity,—theſe are the motives which ought to animate the man of virtue; theſe motives which he may acknowledge without a bluſh.—Without this, philoſophy is only an ideal and uſeleſs declamation againſt the human ſpecies which proves nothing but the pride or peeviſhneſs of the declamator, and convinces nobody.

What title, indeed, has the philoſopher to deſpiſe or inſult his fellow creatures? It is becauſe he imagines he has ſuperior knowledge. But his knowledge is uſeleſs, if ſociety derives no advantage from it. Why ſhould he hate his ſpecies? or what glory can ariſe from miſantrophy? True and ſolid glory can only be founded upon humanity, the love of mankind, ſenſibility, and gentleneſs of manners. Are men ignorant and full of prejudice? Alas! education, example, habit and authority, oblige them to be ſo. Are they ſlaves to vice, paſſion, and frivolous deſires? Thoſe who regulate their deſtiny, the impoſtors who ſeduce them, the models which they have before their eyes, produce in their hearts all the vices that torment them. To hate or deſpiſe men for their errors and follies, is to inſult thoſe whom we ought to pity, and to reproach them with neceſſary and unavoidable infirmities.

Let us comfort man, therefore; but let us never inſult or deſpiſe him: On the contrary, let us inſpire him with confidence; let us teach him to ſet a juſt value upon himſelf, and to feel his own dignity and importance; let us exalt his views, and give him, if poſſible that vigour and force, which ſo many cauſes combine to break and deſtroy. True wiſdom is bold and manly: it never aſſumes the haughty and imperious air of ſuperſtition, which ſeems to have nothing elſe in view but to debaſe and annihilate the human mind. If the philoſopher has warmth and energy in his ſoul, if he is ſuſceptible of a deep and ſtrong indignation, let him rouſe and exert himſelf againſt thoſe falſhoods and impoſtures of which his ſpecies has been ſo long the victim: let him boldly attack thoſe prejudices which are the real ſource of all human calamities, let him deſtroy, in the opinion of his brethren the empire of thoſe prieſts and tyrants who abuſe their ignorance and credulity; let him wage eternal warfare with ſuperſtition, which has ſo often deluged the earth with blood: let him vow irreconcilable enmity to that horrid deſpotiſm, which, for ſo many ages, had fixed its throne in the midſt of wretched nations. If he thinks himſelf poſſeſſed of ſuperior knowledge, let him communicate it to others; if he is more intrepid, let him lend them an helping hand; if he is free, let him point out to others the means of aſſerting their freedom; let him cure them of their ſervile and debaſing prejudices, and the ſhackles which opinions has forged will ſoon fall from off their hands. To inſult the wretched is the height of barbarity; to refuſe to lead the blind is the height of cruelty; to reproach them bitterly for having fallen into the ditch, is both folly and inhumanity.

EXTRAORDINARY ANECDOTE.

DURING the troubles in the reign of Charles I. a country girl came to London in ſearch of a place as a ſervant maid; but not ſucceeding, ſhe applied herſelf to carrying out beer from a brewhouſe, and was one of thoſe then called Tub Women. The brewer obſerving a well looking girl in this low occupation, took her into his family as a ſervant, and, after a-while, married her; but he died while ſhe was yet a young woman, and left her a large fortune. The buſineſs of the brewery was dropped, and the young widow was recommended to Mr. Hyde, as a gentleman of ſkill in the law, to ſettle her huſband's affairs. Hyde (who was afterwards Earl of Clarendon) finding the widow's fortune very conſiderable, married her:—Of this marriage there was no other iſſue than a daughter, who was afterwards the wife of James II. and mother of Mary and Anne, Queens of England.

THE VIOLET.

By the Rev. DR. WOTY.

SERENE is the morn, the lark leaves his neſt,
And ſings a ſalute to the dawn;
The ſun with a ſplendor embroiders the eaſt,
And brightens the dew on the lawn:
While the ſons of debauch to indulgence give way,
And ſlumber the prime of their hours,
Let us, my dear Stella, the garden ſurvey,
And make our remarks on the flow'rs.

The gay gaudy tulip obſerve as you walk,
How flaunting the gloſs on its veſt;
How proud! and how ſtately it ſtands on its ſtalk,
In beauty's diverſity dreſt:
From the roſe, the carnation, the pink and the clove,
What odours inceſſantly ſpring!
The ſouth wafts a richer perfume to the grove,
As he bruſhes the leaves with his wing.

Apart from the reſt, in her purple array,
The violet humbly retreats;
In modeſt concealment ſhe peeps on the day,
Yet none can excel her in ſweets:
So humble, that tho' with unparallel'd grace,
(She might e'en a palace adorn)
She oft in the hedge hides her innocent face,
And grows at the foot of the thorn.

So beauty, my fair one, is doubly refin'd,
When modeſty heightens her charms;
When meekneſs, like thine, adds a gem to her mind,
We long to be lock'd in her arms.
Tho' Venus herſelf from her throne ſhould deſcend,
And the graces wait at her call.——
To thee the gay world would with preference bend,
And hail thee the violet of all.

A VENDUE,

For the SALE of MERCHANDIZE, &c. is continued by

HENRY MILLER,

PRINTER, in RACE-STREET, at PHILADELPHIA,

A COMPLETE GERMAN GRAMMAR,

IN TWO PARTS.

THE firſt Part, containing true, plain and eaſy Inſtructions for acquiring fundamentally, in a ſhort time, the KNOWLEDGE and USE, both in ſpeaking and writing, of the GERMAN TONGUE. The ſecond Part is enriched with familiar Words, Phraſes, peculiar Expreſſions, proverbial Sentences and Dialogues. To which are added, for further Application, ſeveral Pieces of News, Letters and ſome moral Pieces, both in proſe and verſe. Together with an ample Vocabulary, in alphabetical order. By JOHN JAMES BACHMAIR. M. A. This Grammar needs no other recommendatory panegyric than to ſay, that the Author had Univerſity Learning, and for a great number of years, made the teaching of the Engliſh and German Languages, in London, his Profeſſion; in which time, he compoſed and publiſhed this Grammar; as alſo, another for the Germans to learn Engliſh: both are univerſally allowed to be the beſt that ever were publiſhed. They have hitherto been imported from England; but the Book is now, and has been for ſome time out of print, and there is no probability of its being ever reprinted in London: Wherefore it has been judged neceſſary to make a new edition of it in this country, where it is ſo much wanted. The Price will be conſiderably reduced. And, as the Night Schools are now opened at this preſent time, both Maſters and Scholars may have the printed ſheets, at the aboveſaid Editor's, as they come out of the preſs weekly, in order to enable them to go thro' the Grammar againſt the time of its Publication; and keeping the ſheets clean, may then have the Book bound according to their liking.

Since all human performances are ſubject to imperfections, Mr. BACHMAIR'S Grammar is not ſuppoſed to be faultleſs: Wherefore, the preſent Editor has not only corrected the Errata of the preſs, which are found in the London Edition, but alſo, to render it more perfect, the evident miſtakes which thro' inadvertency have eſcaped the notice of the Author. The preſent Edition will alſo contain ſome uſeful and neceſſary additions.

ust imported in the last Vessels agreeable news, that Prince Dolgorucki, after beating a corps of 27,000 Turks under the walls of Caffa, hath taken that fortreſs, and made priſoner the Seraſkier Pacha of three Tails, with a thouſand Turks who were there in garriſon.

The Turks, at the ſame time, abandoned the important key of the ſea of Aſoph, in the Black Sea, viz. the fortreſs of Jenicaly, and the caſtle of Kettſch. In the former were found upwards of ſeventy pieces of cannon, beſides grand magazines of arms, ammunition and proviſion. There remains nothing more for Prince Dolgorucki than to take the fortreſs of Balaclaw, to be maſter of the whole Crimea; and that fortreſs being ſituated between thoſe of Koſlew and Caffa, which are both in our hands, we hope ſoon to be maſters of it.

July 30. The court has juſt publiſhed a circumſtantial relation of the ſurpriſing ſucceſs of the Imperial army in the Crimea; whereby it appears that the loſs of the enemy in the battle which was fought before the ſurrender of Caffa amounted to upwards of 3500 men, who remained dead on the field, beſides the drowned, and thoſe who were ſlain in the purſuit and on board the ſhips. The whole camp of the enemy fell into the hands of our troops; and, amongſt the immenſe booty which they made there, were 2000 tents and 30 pieces of cannon. Our loſs is only eſtimated at 50 men wounded.

LONDON, Auguſt 27.

Although his M——y rides in the State coach, Lord North holds the reins, and directs the courſers of government, wealth, power, title and authority, according to his own pleaſure. He makes the laws bend under the weight of his judges; he renders religion a ſtate tool by the influence of fat ſinecures, pluralities, commendams, tranſlations, &c. and he ſubdues the braveſt ſoldiers, and moſt conſummate Generals to his devotions, by convincing them that preferment doth not depend on merit, but favour.

Auguſt 28. Monday morning the French Ambaſſador, Le Count de Guigne, ſuddenly ſet out for Paris, without taking leave. And, yeſterday morning his horſes were ſent after him. All the furniture in his late dwelling-houſe in Great George-ſtreet, is ſold.

Advices are received of a dangerous inſurrection at Naples, and that a great body of troops have been ſent from Spain to quell the rioters, many of whom are of the firſt quality.

A letter from St. John's, Newfoundland, informs, that there are at preſent upwards of 500 ſail of French fiſhermen on the coaſt, but not above half the number of Engliſh, even including thoſe from the plantations.

It is now aſſerted, that the miniſtry have a ſtrong curioſity and propenſity to try at their own riſques, how far an adminiſtration may be ſupported by the ſole power of the Court againſt the clamours and general opinion of a whole kingdom.

They write from Dublin that five tranſports are now loading proviſions on the river Liffey for the uſe of the French troops in Corſica.

The ſailors below bridge, ſays an evening paper, are ſo afraid of preſs-warrants, that many of them have deſerted from the merchant ſervice, in order to get work on ſhore.

Two houſes were opened laſt week at Wapping, for voluntiers for his Majeſty's ſervice.

Auguſt 29. It is remarkable that the French Ambaſſador quitted this kingdom without the formality of taking leave of his Majeſty; a thing never known before in time of peace.

If the Speaker of the Houſe of Commons ſhould reſign the chair, as there is at preſent ſome reaſon to believe, it is ſaid that the Hon. George Onſlow will certainly be choſen.

Auguſt 30. We are aſſured, that there is ſuch a ſcarcity of proviſions in the interior parts of Germany, that it is computed that in the circle of the Lower Rhine, above 9000 perſons have periſhed for want of food.

Private letters from the Hague bring accounts of a terrible inundation, by the overflowing of the river Amſtel, above Amſterdam, by which above ſix villages are entirely deſtroyed; and, according to a moderate computation, upwards of 500 people were drowned.

Our renowned Spencer gives us an allegorical deſcription of a famous glaſs feigned once to have been in the poſſeſſion of King Arthur, which had this admirable property; by means of it, the King could form a faithful eſtimate of the ſincerity of his miniſters and favourites, and could clearly diſcover the heart of a traitor from that of a loyal and faithful counſellor. Spencer, like a true Engliſhman and an honeſt man, ſenſibly adds, "Happy this realm, had it remained ever ſince;" and perhaps his poſterity, from a cloſe obſervation, and fatal experience, may heartily join in ſentiment with that immortal poet.

A beautiful diamond ſtomacher, in which all kinds of inſects, ſuch as bees, butterflies, &c. are repreſented, is now making at an eminent jeweller's for the intended Queen of Sweden.

On Monday, a man, ſaid to be of ſome repute, ſurrendered himſelf into the cuſtody of the keeper of Wood-ſtreet Compter, as being concerned, with others, in ſetting the dock-yard of Portſmouth on fire ſome time ago.

We are aſſured, that the cauſe of the very ſudden departure of the French Ambaſſador was, his apprehenſion of a ſpeedy diſcovery being made by our Court, [illegible] dock-yard at Portſmouth.

The Miniſtry, however, give out, that the Count is gone to attend a trial at Paris, which abſolutely required his attendance, a conſiderable legacy having been lately left to him, and that he will return in three weeks.

On Wedneſday night the Right Hon. the Earl of Harcourt, his Majeſty's Ambaſſador at the Court of France, arrived in town from Paris; his Lordſhip was yeſterday at the Court at St. James's, and afterwards had a conference with the King.

It is reported, that the intended tour of a popular Peer will be prevented by the higher powers, as the reſtoration of his health is conſidered only as a ſpecious pretext for obtaining an interview with the greateſt Prince in Europe, which may occaſion ſome changes not altogether agreeable to adminiſtration.

Her Majeſty is again pregnant.

Auguſt 31. It is ſettled, we hear, beyond a doubt that the Earl of Chatham is to come into the miniſtry in about eight or nine weeks at fartheſt.

A ſhip arrived from Davis's Straits this ſeaſon, brings advice, that ſhe ſailed ſo far up to the Pole, that the magnetic compaſs had no power, and that ſhe then came into an open broad calm ſea, where there was not the leaſt appearance of ice or land.

We are credibly informed, that for theſe twenty years paſt no leſs a ſum than 170,000l. hath been paid into the Bank of England, every week from the Exciſe Office, for duties to government. How is this amazing ſum applied? Why are the people oppreſſed and burthened with taxes?

Their does not now ſubſiſt (as formerly) a perfect harmony between the only two Peers, from whom we have to hope a reform of our preſent ſyſtem of politics at the helm; we mean the Lords Chatham and Cambden. The firſt nobleman, it ſeems, having liſtened to overtures from adminiſtration, was deſirous of bringing his friend into a ſhare of the propoſed ſtipulations; but Lord Cambden not approving of, would not hearken to the propoſitions; and his Lordſhip proceeding ſo far as to rather ſtrenuouſly reprehend Lord Chatham for his conduct therein, the noble Earl (whoſe warmth of temper is as oft his failing as his virtue) has taken no little umbrage thereat.

Thurſday night ſome diſpatches of importance, ſaid to relate to the ſudden departure of the French Ambaſſador from this kingdom, were received at the Secretary of State's office in Cleveland-row.

Sept. 5. The pretenſions of Dudley and Britain, to diſcover the author of the fire at Portſmouth, ſays a correſpondent, requires the ſtricteſt examination; as they are probably the mere invention of thoſe perſons, in order to impoſe upon and miſlead the credulous; a practice that was attended with terrible conſequences to many worthy characters in that infamous æra of pretended plots, the reign of Charles II.

KINGSTON, (JAMAICA) Sept. 28.

On Wedneſday, the fore-maſt of his Majeſty's frigate Dianna, lying at Port-Royal, was ſhattered to pieces by lightning.

On Monday laſt ſailed for Great-Britain, the Hon. Commodore M'Kenzie, Eſq; in his Majeſty's ſhip of war Dunkirk, Stair Douglas, Eſq; commander.

QUEBEC, October 10.

On Thurſday the 26th of September laſt, between the hours of four and five in the evening, happened the following extraordinary accident, viz.

Upon the arrival of a young man, in a caleche, at one Joſeph Renaud's door, in the pariſh of St. Peter's, South-River, the earth opened, ſwallowed up, and buried him under its maſs, together with the carriage and two horſes. There were in the houſe a woman, two girls, and a young lad, the latter perceiving this extraordinary accident, cried out, let us ſave ourſelves, at the ſame time going out of the houſe to make his eſcape, when he ſaw the earth again opening about 18 feet wide, which obliged him to retire, but the woman, who likewiſe endeavoured to ſave herſelf, was ſwallowed up; the lad was returning into the houſe where the girls had remained, in the greateſt conſternation and fright, when all on a ſudden it fell down, was carried about the diſtance of an acre and an half from where it ſtood and buried in the river, under an enormous maſs of land, which prevents any part of its being ſeen except the end of one of the rafters; notwithſtanding the lad was only found up to the ſhoulders in the earth, and whoſe doleful cries brought ſome people to his aſſiſtance, who had almoſt dug him out, when the barn, which was at a greater diſtance than the houſe, fell and was likewiſe ſwallowed up in the abyſs; this obliged the people to leave the lad, who continued to call for their aſſiſtance; but a little time after, notwithſtanding the danger; they returned and ſaved him.

The immerſion has formed a bank at leaſt three acres broad, the height of which exceeds the ſhore by about 15 feet; it has ſhut up the channel of the river in ſuch a manner, that the waters had not ceaſed to re-flow the 29th, and left it quite dry below the bank.

It is a difficult matter to diſcover the cauſe of ſo extraordinary a falling, as there was not the leaſt ſign of an earthquake, and as it was a hill, the declivity of which to the river was very gentle: Yet, as the land formed a ſmall creek, againſt which the waters ſtruck, and had cut a very deep channel therein, it is to be preſumed, that having, by degrees, waſhed away [illegible] very ſoft clay, it had in courſe of time, made a ſubterraneous paſſage; this appears the more probable, as in the place where the land ſunk, there appeared a deep pit about 60 feet perpendicular.

It is to be obſerved, that ſome days before this accident the chimney ſeemed to the maſter of the houſe to have ſunk, and a few ſtones had fallen down.

On the whole, we leave to the conſideration of perſons of better judgment, to give ſome more natural reaſons for the above fatal event.

SALEM, (NEW ENGLAND) October 22.

His Excellency the Governor, with the advice of his Majeſty's Council, has been pleaſed to appoint Thurſday the twenty-firſt of November next to be obſerved as a day of Public Thankſgiving throughout this Province.

His Excellency the Earl of Dunmore arrived at his Government of Virginia the 23d ult.

NEW-YORK, October 31.

Extract of a letter from Kingſton, in Jamaica, September 16, 1771.

"Sept. 3. This morning about eight o'clock, we had a moſt dreadful and terrible earthquake, which laſted about one minute; had it continued about half that time longer every houſe in this city muſt have been levelled to the ground. The ſhock was ſo ſevere that it was with much difficulty people could keep their feet. The general terror among the inhabitants can be better conceived than expreſſed; every one being in dreadful expectation of inſtantaneous death.—It pleaſed God, however, to ſpare us, and in his judgments to remember mercy. My houſe rocked like a cradle, and I fully expected it muſt have rent aſunder. Think, my friend, what muſt have been the ſituation of my mind on this occaſion! To ſee my wife and family flying frantic and wild, ſeeking protection from me—Good God! I would not paſs ſuch another minute tho' to purchaſe millions of worlds.—About half an hour after, we had another ſhock, tho' not ſo violent, and between nine and ten at night, another ſomething harder than the laſt. The next day there were no leſs than five ſhocks more, and between that time and the date of this letter, ſcarce a ſingle day has paſſed without our feeling this dreadful convulſion of nature, and ſtill this city is preſerved as a monument of God's mercy and goodneſs. The late earthquake at Hiſpaniola being called to our minds afreſh, you may well imagine added much to our apprehenſions."

PHILADELPHIA, November 4.

The Corporation of this City, complimented his Honour the GOVERNOR with a polite entertainment at the State-Houſe on Thurſday laſt. Invitations were given to the Clergy, and to the Military and ſtrange Gentlemen. The bells of Chriſt's-Church joined in the feſtivity.

The General Aſſembly of New-Jerſey are to meet at Burlington, on the 20th of November.

An Oyer and Terminer was held in this city on Monday laſt, when an indictment was read againſt William Speedy, for the murder of Capt. Ogden. The Counſellors for the King were, Andrew Allen and James Tilghman, Eſqrs. Thoſe for the defendant were, John Roſs and Edward Biddle, (of Reading) Eſqrs. The examination and pleas laſted till near ſix o'clock in the evening; when the Jury retired, and in half an hour returned with their verdict, Not guilty.——Their Honours the Judges, then paſſed ſentence upon the culprit, to wit, that he ſhould give ſecurity in 1000l. for his good behaviour for a year, himſelf in 500l. and two freeholders in 250l. each.

On Saturday laſt, William Butler, for horſe-ſtealing, received 39 laſhes, and afterwards ſtood in the pillory one hour.

On Friday laſt, as John M'Carty, a ſailor, was coming up from the veſſel, he heedleſsly ſtepped over the wharf, and was unhappily drowned before any aſſiſtance could be given to him: Next morning his body was viewed by the Coroner's Inqueſt, who delivered in their verdict, Accidental death.

On Saturday laſt, Capt. Jenkins arrived here, in 25 days, from Jamaica. The 13th of October, in lat. 18: 34, long. 76, he ſpoke the ſchooner Swan, Capt. Thomas Rolans, bound from Wilmington to Kingſton, out 20 days, all well.

 This afternoon, at three o'clock, Dr. MORGAN's introductory Lecture to his Courſe on the Theory and Practice of Phyſic, will be delivered at his own houſe.

Teach me to feel another's woe;
To hide the faults I see;
That mercy I to others show,
That mercy show to me! POPE.

OF all the vices which men are liable to, from the depravity of human nature, I think Revenge is the moſt abject and deteſtable; for, however miſtaken mortals may blazon its pedigree, it is certainly the offspring of Cowardice and Pride. Our divine Lawgiver informs us, that true magnanimity conſiſts, not in revenging injuries, but in doing good to our enemies; indeed, forgiveneſs and mercy are the genuine characteriſtics of truly great and noble minds.

Beſides the godlike pleaſure of returning good for evil, Prudence frequently requires us to check our reſentments, and even to repay offences with beneſits, by doing which, we may convert powerful enemies into true and faithful friends.

When Cinna's plot, to murder Auguſtus, was diſcovered, Auguſtus ſent for him privately, and after enumerating the many favours which he had beſtowed upon him, reproached him for his diabolical diſpoſition, in ſeeking the deſtruction of his friend and benefactor. "However, ſays he, I pardon you, and this ſhall be the laſt reproach I'll give you. For the time to come there ſhall be no other contention betwixt you and me, than which ſhall outdo the other in point of friendſhip." After this Auguſtus made Cinna Conſul; and he was, ever after, faithful and juſt to his Imperial Maſter, and at his death made him his ſole heir:——Such were the happy conſequences of Cæſar's clemency:——For a man to retaliate injuries, or ſeek Revenge, is to put himſelf upon a level with the meaneſt of the brute creation; but to diſtinguiſh himſelf by acts of mercy and forgiveneſs, ſhews his alliance to divine Perfection.

When Zeno, the Philoſopher, was told that his enemies reported him to be covetous, baſe and treacherous, calmly replied, "I will endeavour to live ſo, that the world ſhall not believe them."

The revengeful man carries his hell continually about with him; he is never at eaſe, but, on the contrary, is in continual anguiſh and excruciating pain: The diſorder is an eating canker at his heart, which (as Prometheus was treated of old) inceſſantly preys upon his vitals.

A Philoſopher of high rank in the republic of Letters, ſays, "If I were to deſcribe Revenge, I would draw a tiger bathed in blood; ſharp ſet, and ready to take a leap at his prey; or dreſs it up as the poets repreſent the furies, with whips, ſnakes and flames: It ſhould likewiſe be ſour, livid, full of ſcars, and wallowing in gore, raging up and down, deſtroying, grinning, bellowing, and purſuing; ſick of all other things, and moſt of all, of itſelf."

Let us change the hideous proſpect, and view the merciful man. Lo! what ſerenity and cheerfulneſs in his looks! Whilſt the revengeful man is involved in continual ſtorms and tempeſts, he enjoys a perpetual calm. You ſee benevolence ſeated on his brow; he ſquares his actions by the dictates of reaſon and humanity; by which he draws to himſelf the love and admiration of mankind: A peaceful conſcience, honeſt thoughts, and virtuous actions, afford him a never-failing fund of comfort and happineſs.——The moderation of Antigonus is highly worthy of being recorded. Some of his ſoldiers were railing at him one night, where there was but a hanging betwixt them: Antigonus overheard them, and putting the hanging gently aſide; "Soldiers, ſays he, ſtand a little farther off, for fear the King ſhould hear you." How gentle and forgiving! Yet he neither wanted a cauſe for diſpleaſure, nor the power of revenge. In ſhort, it is a ſure argument of a noble and elevated mind, not to retaliate injuries but to forgive them: For, admitting that a man is loaded with calumnies and reproaches, they are but momentary inconveniences, and therefore a wiſe man will bear them with patience and reſolution: Beſides, an injury overlooked with ſilent contempt, loſes its power againſt the perſon aimed at, and recoils upon him who offers it; ſo that he is ſufficiently puniſhed for the injury he intended.

POLITICAL MAXIMS.

THEOPOMPUS being aſked what he thought the ſureſt means by which a King might preſerve his Crown? ſaid, never to put too great a truſt in any one man, to give freedom of ſpeech to all, and to make uſe of his power to keep his ſubjects from oppreſſion: how exact does his opinion tally with that of the preſent Engliſh?

Ageſicles, King of Lacedemonia, being aſked by a foreigner, how he durſt truſt himſelf without guards, as he frequently did? anſwered, becauſe all my people look on me as their father, and take an intereſt in my life: how happy muſt ſuch a Monarch be! how happy his ſubjects!

The Emperors Theodoſius, Julianus, and Conſtantine, were beloved by their ſubjects for nothing ſo much as their eaſineſs of acceſs, and the readineſs with which they liſtened to all addreſſes, of what nature ſoever: how amiable ſuch Princes!

Diviſion among the inhabitants of a country, or denizens of a city, is greatly pernicious; it is of infinitely worſe conſequence than can poſſibly be apprehended: nor do I think our enemies can wiſh, or the wrath of Heaven ſend down a more deſtructive miſchief. Is there a war ſo dangerous—a plague ſo cruel? It is weakening ourſelves, giving force to our adverſaries, opening them the gates, and putting the victory in their hands.

While the Greeks were diſputing among themſelves who ſhould be chief, Philip privately encouraged each competitor, aſſiſting the one againſt the other, till weakened by their home-bred jars they became an eaſy prey to foreign force.

The Romans were never unhappy till their grew diviſions among themſelves, and were unconquerable when in amity with each other, which occaſioned the proverb, A Roman only could ſubdue a Roman.

ON TRUE PATRIOTISM.

THERE is a diſpoſition of mind called public ſpirit, or the love of our country, which good men in all ages have exerted; which prudent men have encouraged by endeavouring to make it faſhionable and honourable; which ingenious men have conſecrated to immortality by their praiſes of it; which few men, how profligate ſoever, have had the impudence to cenſure openly; which ridicule, that ſpares nothing, hath been almoſt afraid to attack; which in our country hath been much talked of, and ſeldom found.

A Patriot is a religious man, who employs himſelf in ſerving the public; and a good citizen is one who loves God and his neighbour. Whoſoever neglects his duty to God, cannot perform his duty to the public in a complete and effectual manner. A Patriot without religion, and an honeſt man without the fear of God, is one of the moſt uncommon creatures upon earth; and unhappy are the people who have nothing better to truſt to, than the honour of ſuch counſellors and magiſtrates. Let revenge, ambition, pride, luſt, or profit tempt the man to a baſe and vile action, and you may as well think to bind an hungry tiger with a cob-web, as to hold this debauched patriot in the viſionary chains of decency, or to charm him with the intellectual beauty of truth and reaſon.

WAS taken away from South-ſtreet wharf, by a Schooner lately lying there, a certain BATTEAU, with her ſide boards painted white, her bottom Spaniſh brown, ſtern green, gunwale black, ſtern ſhuts in the inſide, partly green partly Spaniſh brown, and the other part of her in the inſide all Spaniſh brown: She has ſpaples in her gunwale to fix an arning to, has five ſet of thowl pins, rudder irons in her ſtern, an iron ſtem band, an iron bow-ſtrap and chain. Whoever has taken away the ſaid Batteau, are deſired to leave her at Arthur Donaldſon's wharf, and they ſhall be rewarded for their trouble.

BARON VAN SWIETEN'S
UNIVERSAL, NEVER-FAILING,
WORM-DESTROYING SUGAR-PLUM,

THIS is the only ſafe, certain and efficacious remedy hitherto diſcovered for effectually and radically deſtroying thoſe ravenous vermin called Worms, which are too frequently the noxious inhabitants of the bodies of men, women, and children.

The virtues of this Medicine are beyond deſcription, and it is ſo innocent and ſafe, that it may be given to ſucking infants.——'Tis not confined to the common worms in children, but alſo to the joint and all other ſpecies of worms, which often grievouſly torment the bodies of grown perſons.

Two doſes of this wonderful SUGAR-PLUM drives thoſe filthy and hateful vermin entirely out of the body, and totally deſtroys their eggs, which many other Medicines adminiſtered as ſpecifics in thoſe complaints, leave unhurt in the folds of the gut rectum, and conſequently the root of the diſorder remains.

It in a moſt ſurprizing manner ſcours and cleanſes the bowels of ſlime, and fetches out thoſe viſcid humours that generally produce obſtructions in the meſenteriac glands, and in ſome meaſure the lacteals themſelves, which is often the caſe with children, and frequently attended with a hard belly, nauſeous breath, and weakneſs of the limbs. The intermittent fevers ſuch children are liable to, are much ſooner and better cured by this excellent Reſtorative than by the Bark; as it will abſolutely reach and remove the cauſe, which the Bark has repeatedly been found very defective in performing.

This univerſally approved of remedy has been of the utmoſt ſervice to grown perſons afflicted with the Rheumatiſm; and in many caſes, has greatly relieved gravelly pains.

Price Five Shillings the box, containing twelve doſes.

Sold by Dr. THOMAS ANDERTON, in Market-Street, PHILADELPHIA.

Where alſo may be had,

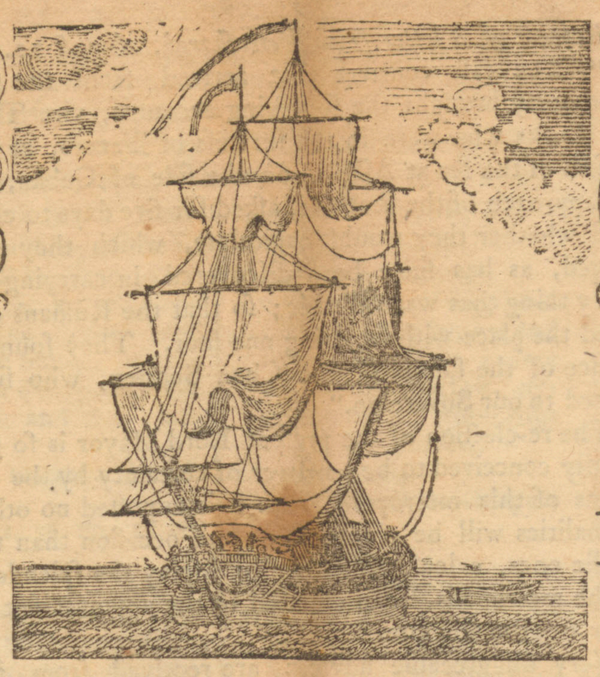
THE PRUSSIAN LADIES
PATENT BALSAM,

For effectually clearing the ſkin of pimples, freckles, ſunburn, &c. and making the ſkin beautifully white, ſoft and ſmooth.

NOVEMBER, 1771. NUMB. 3.

THE Pennsylvania GENERAL AND MONDAY, THE Packet ADVERTISER.

NOVEMBER 11th, 1771.



Quicquid agunt Homines, noſtri eſt Farrago Libelli. JUVENAL.

A ſingular Paſſage in the Life of BEHRAM, King of PERSIA.

BEHRAM, King of Perſia, ſucceeded to his father's throne, at an age more proper to be under control, than to govern his ſpecies. He imagined, that the whole buſineſs of a Monarch was to conſult his own happineſs; and to attain this end, he abandoned the arduous taſk of government to his Prime Miniſter. This Vizier, never expecting to be queſtioned about his management, ſhamefully abuſed the power delegated to him, as did all the ſubordinate officers under his direction, depending upon the like impunity; ſo that they all ſought only their own profit, without any regard to the public, to which they were reſponſible.

The troops, ill paid, became negligent in their duty; no order maintained, no juſtice adminiſtered, nor any œconomy practiſed, the people became ſeditious. The Prince was too late informed that his ſubjects were ready to deny him obedience. He was alarmed at the report, and ſhaking of the indolence he had ſo long been accuſtomed to, inquired from whence ſuch a general diſſatisfaction ſhould proceed, as he did not expect or foreſee. His counſellors ſo much dreaded the Vizier's diſpleaſure, that though they acknowledged the diſorders, yet had neither virtue nor courage enough to lay open the cauſe. As the Prince was one day walking, penſive, and ruminating upon the evils he wiſhed to remove, he met with a ſhepherd, who had juſt been hanging his dog upon a tree.

"What had that animal done, ſays the King, to merit ſuch a puniſhment?"

"The crime he has committed, anſwered the ſhepherd, is, he betrayed the confidence I had repoſed in him; I raiſed him up, and fed him plentifully, that he might defend my ſheep from the wolf; but, inſtead of performing the ſervice I intended and expected from him, he entered into a combination with thoſe voracious animals, and not only neglected the charge of protection, but alſo became a ſharer with them in the plunder; by which means my flock is devoured through the perfidiouſneſs of my dog." The calamities of the multitude is always owing to thoſe that govern.

Theſe words made a deep impreſſion in the King's mind, opened his eyes to reflection, and convinced him that he had been imprudent in truſting too implicitly to his Vizier, as treacherous as the ſhepherd's dog, and therefore condemned him to the ſame puniſhment the cur ſo juſtly deſerved.

This example ſtruck terror into thoſe, who, in imitation of the prime miniſter, had abuſed that portion of authority committed to them. By this wholeſome ſeverity good order was eſtabliſhed in Perſia, and the King was inſtructed by the leader of a flock, in what manner he ſhould govern his ſubjects.

VERSES ON DANCING.

Addreſſed to a Young LADY.

MAY I preſume, in humble lays,
My dancing fair! thy ſteps to praiſe?
While this grand maxim I advance,
That all the world is but a dance.

That human kind, both man and woman,
Do dance, is evident and common:
David himſelf, that godlike king,
We know, could dance as well as ſing:
Folks who at court would keep their ground,
Muſt dance attendance the year round;
Whole nations dance: gay friſking France
Has led Great Britain many a dance;
And ſome ſtill think that France and Spain
Intend to make us dance again.

All nature is one ball we find:
The water dances to the wind;
The ſea itſelf, at night and noon,
Riſes and dances to the moon.
The moon around the earth does tread,
A Cheſhire round, yet ne'er looks red;
The earth and planets round the ſun
Still dance, nor will their dance be done,
Till nature in one blaſt be blended,
Then may we ſay the ball is ended.

TO THE PUBLIC.

AS the higheſt attainment of the human mind conſiſts in the moſt uſeful knowledge, and the right application of it, ſo there are ſcarce any ſubjects of enquiry, which have ſo great a tendency to thoſe valuable ends, as theſe which are the topics of the propoſed Sermons; the Author of which has nobly diſtinguiſhed himſelf by a nervous ſimplicity, a manly fire, and a vein of rational, animated piety, which run through the whole of them; and he is no leſs eſteemed for his eloquence in the pulpit, than for his exemplary deportment in private life.

A HEALTHY YOUNG WOMAN, with a good breaſt of milk, who can be well recommended, and lives about twenty miles from this city, would take a child to nurſe. Enquire of the Printer.

By Capt. Neal, arrived here from Liverpool, and Capt. Chambers, arrived at New-York from Briſtol, we have the following advices.

PETERSBURGH, Auguſt 9.

SOME very violent ſtorms have lately fallen here. The lightning ſtruck a galley in the port where they lay, and the fire communicating itſelf to others, 26 gallies and half gallies were conſumed, with a great quantity of ſtores and ammunition. The loſs is computed at half a million of rubles.

Florence, Auguſt 10. In the night of the 27th ult. about eleven o'clock, a violent ſhock of an earthquake was felt at Firenzuola, which ſoon after was followed by another more conſiderable, and ſucceſſively by twenty-ſeven others, ſix of which were ſo violent as to throw down ſeveral chimnies, &c. Some of the terrified inhabitants have erected huts in the open fields, others are under tents. The ſame earthquake was felt in the adjacent countries, and ſpread equal terror there.

Madrid, Aug. 3. Lord Grantham, Ambaſſador Extraordinary from Great Britain had yeſterday his firſt audience of the King, when he delivered his credentials.

Baſtia, Aug. 19. Twenty-two Corſicans, headed by one Marſo Aquavia, all of whom eſcaped from the French, by wading over the river of Provenca, near Nice, landed lately near Cape Corſe, in the plain of Siſco, and began to aſſaſſinate all the French they met with. As ſoon as this was known at Baſtia, a detachment was ſent againſt them, but they retired into the mountains.

Hague, Sept. 3. Copy of a letter from Peterſburgh, dated Auguſt 13, to his Excellency Prince Gallitzin. "According to the laſt accounts from the ſecond army, Balaklawa and Belby, two fortreſſes and ports in Crimea, the firſt of which is conſiderable, on account of its ſituation, for the ſecurity of the harbour, have been taken poſſeſſion of by our troops; ſo that all the fortified places of that peninſula are now in our power; beſides, three other little ports in the Black Sea, which are not ſet down in the maps. The Tartars of Crimea begin to come from the mountains, in order to return to their habitations, being buſy in getting in the harveſt."

Hague, Sept. 8. Prince Gallitzin, the Ruſſian Envoy at this place, has received a letter from Leghorn, dated Auguſt 23, adviſing, that after the junction of the armies of Cheik Daher to thoſe of Ali Bey, in Egypt, the army conſiſted of 60,000 men; and that a vaſt number of Arabs having joined him, he was actually marching at the head of 100,000 men, in order to conquer all Syria.

LONDON, Sept. 4.

The Lords of the Admiralty have ordered a ſmall ſquadron to cruize in the Iriſh Channel, and another between the Frith of Edinburgh and the Orkneys.

It is imagined that ſome important buſineſs will be taken into conſideration this day by the Privy Council, as the great Lord Cheſterfield, who has not been at the council board for many years, is ſummoned to attend.

Extract of a letter from France.

"The miſery of this kingdom is inconceivable. The faces of the wretched people are ground with taxes, while they have not bread to eat. The parliament are deſtroyed and exiled. The moſt reſpectable men in France are torn from their connections, and immured in dungeons, or pent up in little cots and hovels, where there is hardly any neceſſary of life to be got for love or money.—Our rulers ſeem willing to try how much human nature will ſuffer. Were not the Dauphin ſuch a poor prieſt ridden ſimpleton, did not his weakneſs threaten us with greater calamities than thoſe which we endure, I believe a revolution would, ere now, have been attempted. But we are hopeleſs. Providence has abandoned us to diſtreſs and ſlavery."

Sept. 6. A ſhort time after the late fire at Portſmouth, in July 1770, the Lords of the Admiralty offered a reward of 1000 l. to any perſon who ſhould diſcover the perſons concerned in it, provided they ſhould make the diſcovery within three months; if the like reward was now offered, it would preclude the claim ſaid to be made by Dudley of 600 l. for making the diſcovery. However, it is aſſerted, that his reports and thoſe of his companion, will be ſearched to the bottom, and if they are found impoſtors, (as ſome think they will turn out) they will be puniſhed in the moſt exemplary manner, for their falſe allegations.

A national ſponge is ſo greatly dreaded in France, that people who have any property in the funds of that kingdom, are hourly ſelling out, though at an amazing loſs; and the Farmers-general who deal largely on ſpeculation, are inceſſantly ſolicited to become purchaſers.

The buſineſs on which General Coote is to re-embark for India, is ſaid to be of a moſt important nature to the intereſts of this country, and in fact, rather an enquiry into the conduct of a certain great C———y, than a concurrence with their meaſures, or an eſpouſal of their cauſe.

A new treaty of guarantee is juſt concluded between the courts of Berlin and Peterſburgh.

It is conjectured, that a private negociation is actually begun by the Earl of Cheſterfield, that nobleman having had ſeveral private conferences lately at Richmond.

We are aſſured, that great intereſt is making for the office of Lord Mayor for the year enſuing, by three ſeparate parties, Adminiſtration, the Rockingham, and the Shelburne.

Sept. 7. A bill is to be brought into Parliament next winter for ſupplying ſuch confined debtors as are tradeſmen, with the means of procuring a livelihood, that they may be no longer equally loſt to themſelves and the community.

Extract of a letter from Peterſburgh, Auguſt 21.

"The laſt couriers that arrived from the ſecond army brought the following accounts, viz. That the Turks who were in the fortreſs of Taman, at the mouth of the ſea at Aſoph, on the ſide of Cuban, on the approach of the Ruſſians, aſked for five days to conſider whether they would capitulate, which they employed, as has ſince been diſcovered, in carrying off every thing that was valuable; ſo that the Ruſſians entered the place without firing one ſhot. They found a Prince of the family of the Chan Schiren, who ſubmitted to our Sovereign."

The re-election of the preſent Lord Mayor is ſo generally conceived to be a matter of certainty by the citizens of this metropolis, that it is expected no other formalities will be obſerved on the occaſion than the public ones, calculated rather to diſplay the ſplendour of the metropolis, than eſſential to the appointment of their chief magiſtrate.

Very diſagreeable advices are received from the Eaſt-Indies, and it is ſaid, that a new commiſſion of ſuperviſorſhip is determined on by the Directors, to prevent private ambition from ſacrificing the public good, and to remove the neceſſity of a new war with the interior powers of Indoſtan.

An eſtimate is making of all the waſte lands in this kingdom, againſt the meeting of Parliament, that ſome method may be adopted of rendering them uſeful to the community.

A few days ago died, one Mr. Iſaac Naſh, a farmer, aged 104, and the day after he was buried his wife died, aged 115 years: they had been man and wife 81 years.

Sept. 8. They write from Breſt, that on breaking up a ſmall French frigate which had lain by for many years, a large quantity of gold, in Spaniſh and Portugal coin, had been diſcovered in the hallow part of a large beam, to the value of ſeveral thouſand pounds ſterling.

Sept. 10. A few days ago a courier arrived in town, with diſpatches of the laſt importance from the Court of Vienna: it is ſaid, that he alſo delivered ſome letters to the courts of Madrid and Verſailles on his way.

Orders are ſent to Chatham for equipping a fleet of five ſhips immediately, three of which are to be of the line. Their deſtination is yet a profound ſecret.

According to letters from Peterſburgh, the Ottoman Porte, in order to accelerate the treaty of peace with her Imperial Majeſty, had made freſh propoſals, which were judged of ſo advantageous a nature, that a ſpeedy end will be put to the war.

Sept. 12. Great preparations, we hear, are making by the Croſbyan and Harleyan parties, for a general engagement in the plains of Guildhall, on the 30th of this month; and from the apparent animoſity on both ſides, it is expected the conteſt will be very hot, and the battle bloody. The ground, it it ſaid, will be fought inch by inch, as the generals of each army are determined to conquer or die.

Sept. 14. At the meeting of the Livery, held on Wedneſday night, Mr. Archer in the chair, the report from the committee who had been deſired to enquire into the privileges of their fellow-citizens, was conſidered, and ſeveral reſolutions reſpecting that matter, and the future elections of Repreſentatives to Parliament, was read and agreed upon, and directed to be laid before the Common-Hall for their approbation; after which the following reſolutions were carried almoſt unanimouſly.

Reſolved, That it be recommended by this meeting, to the Livery in Common-Hall aſſembled, to return Mr. Alderman Bridgen, together with the preſent Lord Mayor, to the court of Lord Mayor and Aldermen, for their choice of one of them to be Lord Mayor of this city for the year enſuing.

The Lord Mayor has received a letter from the Mayor of Briſtol, informing his Lordſhip, that the man who pretends to have been an acting perſon in ſetting Portſmouth dock on fire, was at Briſtol, and tranſacted ſome buſineſs for a gentleman in that place, at the time he pretends to have been at Portſmouth.

Lord North has declared he will not quit the helm till he has conveyed the political veſſel into a quiet harbour. "I took the command (ſaid he, lately to a naval friend) in the midſt of a hurricane, and have almoſt reached a port of ſecurity; when I caſt an anchor to my ſatisfaction there, the Admiral may give the rudder to whom he pleaſes, and my beſt wiſhes for a proſperous voyage ſhall certainly attend the new Captain."

A ſuppreſſion of what is termed the rotten boroughs, and an allowance of repreſentation to places of real conſequence, will, we are aſſured, be moved for by Lord North early in the enſuing ſeſſions, that the people may really diſcover the true friends of the conſtitution.

Britain and Dudley are culprits deſerving a ſevere puniſhment, whether they did or did not actually ſet fire to Portſmouth dock-yard.

Britain was a priſoner for forgery, and Dudley for debt, and their information is thought to be a ſcheme to get rid of their difficulties, and a releaſe from confinement.

The Northington Eaſt-Indiaman, lately arrived, hath brought over an Arabian poney, extremely fierce and ravenous, valued at 3000 guineas, and the whelp of a wild tyger. In her paſſage ſhe met with a ſtorm, when both got looſe. The horſe killed one man and devoured him, and tore out the bowels of another, before they could ſecure him again. The whelp got upon the gib-boom, where it ſat a conſiderable time, to the no ſmall terror of the ſhip's company; at laſt, a ſailor ſwore, if the Captain would give him a cann, he would fetch it down if it was the Devil. The promiſe given, up went the tar, and brought him down as gentle as a lamb. The whelp, it is ſuppoſed, had a ſtrong ſenſation of its danger, and expreſſed its gratitude to its kind preſerver, by permitting him to play with it with great familiarity, whilſt to every other perſon who approached him, he ſhewed the ferocity of his nature.

Amongſt the many reports about the perſons of high rank that are concerned in the fire at Portſmouth, it is ſaid that a certain great perſonage, who has long been the cat's paw of an unpopular junto, is very ſtrongly ſuſpected of having ſome concern about that buſineſs. People are tender in ſpeaking out upon the occaſion, but it is certain that he is, and for ſome time has been, in actual cuſtody: His houſe is night and day ſurrounded by a ſtrong guard, and when he is permitted to go abroad, he is conſtantly attended by a troop of light horſe.

His Royal Highneſs the Biſhop of Oſnaburg, it is ſaid, will ſhortly be created Duke of York.

It is ſaid, in regard to the Colonies, that all due obedience to the Mother Country will be inſiſted on, and that in return, every neceſſary aſſiſtance and protection will be afforded.

We are told, that the American Tea Bill will be repealed. It is certainly not worth while for England to quarrel with her colonies for ſo trifling a revenue as is raiſed in conſequence of that act.

PROVIDENCE, October 26.

Capt. Allen, from the Weſt-Indies, on the 26th ult. in lat. 30: 40, long. 74: 7 weſt, ſpoke a ſhip from Briſtol, bound to Charleſtown, South Carolina, the maſter of which informed him, that three days before, he took off a wreck, Capt. Joſhua Packwood, with his crew, from New-Haven, and put them on board a veſſel belonging to Newberry.

NEWPORT, October 21.

Laſt Tueſday arrived the brig Defiance, Captain George Champlin from the Windward Iſlands, who, on the 23d of Sept. lat. 22. long. 71, fell in with a large high or two decked wrecked ſloop, with her bowſprit ſtanding, her maſt and boom laſhed along ſide; ſhe had a riſing in her gunwale, an upright ſtern painted with a dark blue, and red under the counter, four cabin windows, and a window painted amidſhips; ſhe had a roller for ſhipping, an enſign ſtaff, a number of white ſhirts and a purple and white calicoe gown hanging on her quarter rails, &c. her quarter deck entirely gone. The weather was ſo bad that Capt. Champlin could not get out his boat to make any other diſcovery.

Laſt Friday arrived (almoſt a wreck) the brig Nancy, Capt. Andrew Langworthy, who ſailed from this port about ſeven weeks paſt for the Weſt-Indies—On the 20th of September, he had a very ſevere gale, which obliged him to ſcud; about 2 o'clock P. M. a ſea ſtruck the veſſel, and carried away the horſe awning, and all his horſes, after which they cleared her quarter deck of hay, hoops &c. and ſcudded again till 7 o'clock, the wind ſtill increaſing, when their foretopſail blew away, the brig broached to, lay on her beam-ends, and kept lowering till they cut away their lanniers, when the mainmaſt broke and went over board: After that another ſea ſtruck her, drove in the dead lights, broke the tiller in the rudder head, carried away both their cables and one anchor. Sept. 21ſt they carried away their foremaſt head, and loſt their foretopmaſt, ſail and ſhrouds all over board. The day before the gale came on they were in lat. 26, 9, and long. 70, 7.

NEW-YORK, November 7.

Capt. William Harriſon, who arrived here on Sunday the 27th ult. in ſeventeen days from New-Providence, in lat. 33: 28. long. 73, 53, ſaw a wreck without any perſon on board, to the weſtward, and ran cloſe under her ſtern; found her to be a ſnow, New-England built; had loſt all her maſts, except about twelve feet of her foremaſt:—ſhe had neither anchors, cables, or any kind of rigging left, except the main ropes of her bowſprit;—had ſome ſmall ſpars laſhed, and ſome fire wood lying on deck;—had black ſides and ſtern: her hance ſtreak painted white, and waſh boards red;—her two larboard dead lights beat in;—ſaw two cheſts in the cabin, her hatches were open, ſhe was very light, had a woman head, and loſt part of her waiſt on the ſtarboard ſide.——A high ſea running, and the wind blowing very freſh, prevented Capt. Harriſon from going on board to make any farther diſcoveries.

PHILADELPHIA, November 11.

His Excellency the Earl of Dunmore, Governor of Virginia, on the 12th of October, iſſued a proclamation, diſſolving the General Aſſembly of that province; the reaſons for which are not aſſigned, nor any mention made of the election of a new Aſſembly.

On Thurſday laſt, a ſervant boy belonging to Mr. Hazelhurſt, merchant, through careleſsneſs fell into the river, and was unfortunately drowned.

 The Night Piece, ſigned W. J. is received, and will be careſully inſerted.

WHEREAS Mr. Henry William Stiegal hath publiſhed an advertiſement in the Pennſylvania Packet, offering a reward of Five Piſtoles to any perſon who ſhall apprehend me the ſubſcriber, and ſecure me as a run away ſervant; and as I am no way deſirous of having any perſon plunge himſelf into an expenſive law-ſuit, I ſhall ſtate the caſe between Mr. Stiegal and me, which is as follows: I and ſeveral other men came to America to purſue the buſineſs of making glaſs-ware; Mr. Stiegal perſuaded us to enter into articles of agreement with him, to carry on the ſaid buſineſs; we being ſtrangers in America, and pleaſed with the civility of Mr. Stiegal's then behaviour to us, we executed the articles, a copy whereof I now have, and as he has forfeited the covenants on his part, I have a right to leave his employ and to bring an action againſt him; for, I am not by the laws of nature, to drudge and ſpend my whole life and ſtrength in performing my part of the articles, and Mr. Stiegal not paying me my wages. I have taken the opinion of an eminent gentleman of the law upon the articles, who declares, no perſon can be juſtified in apprehending me, as I am no ſervant, and that any perſon ſo doing will ſubject himſelf to an action of falſe impriſonment. If Mr. Stiegal wants a farther explanation of the matters between us, I am ready and willing to publiſh it and ſubmit the ſame to the public, as well as to anſwer Mr. Stiegal in any action he may think proper to bring againſt me, and will find ſecurity in a thouſand pounds for ſo doing.

WANTED,

A NEGRO BOY, from fourteen to twenty years of age, that can be well recommended. Any perſon who has ſuch to diſpoſe of, may hear of a Purchaſer by applying to the Printer.

DR. GRAHAM,

OCULIST AND AURIST,

TAKES this method to acquaint the inhabitants of Britiſh America in general, that he may be conſulted at his apartments at Mrs. Dugdale's, in Arch-ſtreet, between Second and Third ſtreets, in this city, in all the diſorders of the eyes, and in every ſpecies of deafneſs.

The anatomy and diſeaſes of the human body in general, have always been his favourite ſtudy; but the ſtructure and diſeaſes of thoſe tender and important organs to which nature has aſſigned the moſt uſeful offices of life, the eyes and ears, have for ſeveral years particularly engaged his attention; from thence he hath deduced, on rational principles, methods of cure improved and confirmed by the niceſt obſervations in the courſe of a moſt extenſive practice. Were he to mention the great numbers he has reſtored to, or otherwiſe aſſiſted in their ſight or hearing (many of whom had been deemed incurable by other practitioners) it would far exceed the limits of an advertiſement; ſucceſsful practice, low charges, and the cloſeſt attention to his patients, he is aſſured will recommend, and be a better teſtimony of his ſkill and abilities, than any thing he might advance in his own behalf. All therefore that Dr. Graham chooſes to ſay concerning his medical abilities, is, that after ſeveral years ſtudy at the juſtly celebrated Univerſity of Edinburgh, he has travelled and attended upon the Hoſpitals and Infirmaries in London, Edinburgh, Dublin, &c. as well as the lectures of the moſt eminent profeſſors in ſeveral parts of Europe.

Notwithſtanding this city is at preſent ſupplied with practitioners in phyſic and ſurgery, gentlemen eminent in their profeſſion, worthy and capable of the great, the important charge with which they are entruſted; yet the above conſiderations, added to his having had more experience as an oculiſt and auriſt, than, perhaps, any other Phyſician and Surgeon on this vaſt Continent, the ſucceſs which has attended his practice, the moderation and tenderneſs he ſhews to even the pooreſt individual, encourage him to hope for ſome ſhare of the favour of the candid and reſpectable inhabitants of theſe parts of Britiſh America, who can readily diſtinguiſh true merit from pretended knowledge.

Thoſe patients who chooſe it, or whoſe diſorders require it, may be attended at their own houſes. The poor who apply, properly recommended, will be aſſiſted gratis, with advice, medicines, or manual operations, as their reſpective caſes may require; and for that purpoſe, he will appropriate every Saturday from eight o'clock in the morning till noon.

To Dr. GRAHAM.

HAVING been troubled for many years with a weakneſs and humour in my eyes and eyelids, I thus publicly declare the cure I have received thro' your means, after having applied to many Doctors, and uſed a great variety of medicines in vain.

Elizabeth-Town. JOHN MOORE.

THESE are to certify all whom it may concern, that my daughter Heſter Baker, 11 years of age, had the misfortune to be born deaf and dumb, hath received very conſiderable advantage in point of hearing, and now begins to ſpeak ſeveral words, of which ſhe has hitherto been altogether incapable, thro' the means which Dr. Graham, under God, has lately made uſe of in her behalf; as witneſs my hand,

Elizabeth-Town. JACOB BAKER.

To Dr. GRAHAM.

SIR,

IN gratitude to you, and for the benefit of my fellow creatures, I thus freely acknowledge the cure I have received of a fiſtula lacrymalis of my left eye, and of a running, accompanied with deafneſs of my left ear, tho' of many years ſtanding.

DANIEL TURNER.

Newark, Eaſt New-Jerſey.

AFTER being afflicted with a ſevere and conſtant headach, and almoſt total blindneſs (my caſe being the gutta ſerena) above ſix years, I have through God's bleſſing, recovered my ſight, and am perfectly cured of my headach, thro' the means that Dr. Graham has applied, for which I thus publicly preſent him my hearty thanks. THEOPHILUS PIERSON.

Newark, Eaſt New-Jerſey.

To Dr. JAMES GRAHAM.

I TAKE this method to return you my hearty thanks for being the means, under God, of curing my ſon of a film over his right eye, occaſioned by the ſmall-pox, ſo that he has now recovered his ſight perfectly.

ADRIAN HOUGLAND.

Bound-Brook, New-Jerſey.

PLAUT. TRUC. 1, 2, 25.

THERE is not a crime, morally ſpeaking, greater than that of calumny. Some men there are, who are baſe enough to betray the intereſt of their King for pecuniary rewards; but there are others, who will depreciate the character of an individual from no other motive than that of envy, and, by robbing him of his reputation, deprive him of the means of ſupporting a family, and thereby expoſe a ſet of innocents, whom revenge could never actuate, to all the horrors of indigence, poverty, and oppreſſion.

When an injury has been received, and the offended party can ſee no other method of puniſhing the delinquent, than by expoſing his character to the cenſure of the world, ſuch a kind of retaliation might, in ſome meaſure, and in ſome caſes, ſeem pardonable: for a miſtaken maxim ſays, "Revenge is ſweet;" but when there has never been the leaſt cauſe for an affront; when, on the contrary, the aggreſſor has always been treated by his injured neighbour with every proper mark of reſpect; how does it aggravate the crime, when that man's ſpleen and malice are levelled at an innocent perſon, for the ſole purpoſe of deſtroying his reputation, of rendering him contemptible in the eyes of the world, and reducing him to poverty without reſource!

Superbo is a man of a hot, turbulent, overbearing diſpoſition, who, having acquired money enough to raiſe him above a ſtate of dependence, unfortunately thinks himſelf licenſed to trample his leſs opulent neighbours under foot. Not ſatisfied with exerciſing his authority at home, with an imperious, domineering air, he carries this proud, haughty temper abroad with him; and if, by meeting in company with any friends, who are his equals, or perhaps ſuperiors in point of fortune, he may be induced to relax a little in that ſupercilious carriage, which ſo much diſtinguiſhes his domeſtic deportment, he nevertheleſs ſeldom fails to make up for the loſs in calumny and detraction; the true characteriſtics of a depraved heart. This temper he chiefly diſcovers in caluminating the abſent; a remarkable inſtance of which occurred very lately in the caſe of Sedulo.

Sedulo is a young man of a ſober, induſtrious turn of mind, who at preſent enjoys a place, though too ſmall to maintain himſelf and family. A vacancy falling out in a more lucrative employment than what he now poſſeſſes, Sedulo makes uſe of all his endeavours to obtain it; and as a fair character will be the moſt prevailing argument in his favour, he takes care to ſtrengthen that by the moſt undeniable teſtimonies. Superbo, from the natural depravity of his heart, attempts to perſuade the world, that the character of Sedulo will not bear a ſcrutiny; that his diſpoſitions and principles are bad, and, in ſhort, that his moral and religious character is ſo baſe and worthleſs, that it would be an act of imprudence, nay, injuſtice, to ſhew him the leaſt countenance.

Had Superbo been ever provoked by injuries, or had he even vented his malice at any other time, than on ſo critical an occaſion as this, it might not have been of ſo much conſequence; but to rob a man of his reputation, for the ſake of depriving him of the means of ſupporting a family comfortably, is a piece of baſeneſs and villainy that can ſcarcely be paralelled.

Unlucky for Superbo, the malice of his diſpoſition is ſo well known, that the very method he makes uſe of to depreciate his neighbours, ſerves as a principle inſtrument in their ſucceſs; and the world, ſo far from liſtening to the whiſpers of malevolence, deſpiſe the author of it, while they receive the injured perſon into their favour.

Sedulo ſucceeds, and attributes a great part of his ſucceſs to the malevolent, though impotent attempts of Superbo; for though he bleſſes Providence, for having ſo far inverted the ſcheme of his enemy as to cauſe it to turn out greatly to his advantage, he nevertheleſs treats his calumniator with the moſt ſovereign contempt, and, deſpiſing the utmoſt efforts of his malice, reſts contented with this reflection, that envy is its own puniſhment.

SIR,

If you think the following Verſes worthy of a place in your Paper, pleaſe to inſert them.

A NIGHT PIECE.

WITH hollow blaſts the winds ariſe,
And howling dreary thro' the ſkies,
Add horror to the midnight hour!
Affrighted in ſome lonely vale,
Sits ſadly mute the nightingale,
Nor chants within the bower.

But oft is gloomy ſilence broke,
When from ſome venerable oak
The owl terrific ſcreams!
Oft too, at night, ſad ſolemn noon,
Wolves gaunt and ghaſtly bay the moon;
Whilſt wak'd from pleaſing dreams,

Starts from his couch the drowſy ſwain,
And liſtning, hears with anxious pain,
The horrid ſavage yell.
Hail! gloomy pleaſing hour of night,
Now fancy wing'd with eagle-flight
Delight of thee to tell.

Thou lov'd of ſages and of ſaints;
Thou hear'ſt the penſive lovers plaints;
To you they ſole complain.
Oft by the waſteful tapers light
I lonely paſs the gloom of night,
And ſigh my am'rous pain;

Or, widely wand'ring in the fields,
Whilſt love to contemplation yields;
Enraptured with delight,
I view, with philoſophic eye,
The ſhining orbs that deck the ſky;
Charm'd with the glorious ſight.

Oft too, where lie the ſilent dead,
My ſolitary foot-ſteps tread,
With pleaſing horror fraught;
Liſtning I hear the paſſing bell,
Toll the ſad, ſolemn, mournful knell
Of time; whilſt deep in thought,

On Providence I meditate,
On death, futurity, and fate,
By ſolemn fancy led;
Till morning, with refulgent light,
Diſpels the darkling ſhades of night,
And all the gloom is fled.

By Captain BERRIEN arrived here, and Captain PEASE, arrived at Marblehead, both from LONDON, we have the following Advices.

PETERSBURGH, Auguſt 10.

THE Chan of the Tartars, Selim Gueray, whom the Porte raiſed to that dignity, has but a ſhort time allowed him to ſend his ſubmiſſion to Prince Dolgoruoki. He has declared in his letter, that he is ready to accept the ſame conditions which the ſubjects of his nation have had allowed them by the Empreſs, and we are told that he will ſend two of his ſons with a formal writing to the above purpoſe. As it ſeems to be the intent of our Court only to weaken that of the Porte, if the Tartars conſent to it, it is indifferent whether Selim Gueray is continued their Chan, or is ſet aſide for one of the family of Schiron, though, on the whole, it is believed the former will be confirmed in his dignity.

The fortreſs of Taman, ſituate in the iſland of Tameroff, at the mouth of the ſea of Zahache, and three other towns in that country, are occupied by our troops, by which we are become totally maſters of that ſea.

We learn, that Major General Braun, who commanded under Prince Dolgorouki in thoſe parts, is dead, whoſe loſs cannot be too greatly regretted.

Peterſburgh, Aug. 12. We have juſt received a confirmation that Selim Gueray's Deputies are actually arrived at the camp of Prince Dolgorouki, with a letter, wherein he renounces his ſubjection to the Turks, and puts himſelf under the dominion of the Empreſs.

Peterſburgh, Aug. 16. By ſeveral letters from our army under Prince Dolgorouki, we learn, that our fleet from Aſoph is in the harbour of Caffa, which has ſtruck terror into the inhabitants of Conſtantinople.

Arta, in Lower Albany, July 31. They write from Negropont, that the peaſants of the neighbouring countries have quitted their habitations to take ſhelter in the heart of the iſland. Athens has been ſacked, and the natives of Albany, in their different incurſions, have laid waſte above an hundred leagues of ground.

Poland, Aug. 15. The plague has communicated itſelf from Poland to the Ruſſian Ukraine, and has reached to Human and Bracklaw, in Lower Pedolia.

LONDON, Auguſt 31.

Extract of letter received by the Vanſittart, from a Gentleman who is in a ſtation which enables him to have a thorough knowledge of the Company's affairs in India.

" Your affairs on the Coromandel Coaſt now wear a more pleaſant aſpect than they have done for many years. The Nabob's debt is recovered, our bond debts paid off, the revenues duly collected. With regard to the Circar under my direction, I have been ſucceſsful enough to reſtore this formerly diſtracted country to peace and tranquillity, ſettled the revenues on a firm and ſolid footing, and increaſed the inveſtments three times as much as before. Heyder Ali has often told me, when I was negociating with him, that he was very ſenſible of the ſuperiority of our European troops; and that if ever he quarrelled with us again, he would never fight us in a pitched battle. As to his preſent diſputes with the Marattas, I am confident, from the known prudence and ſagacity of Governor Dupre, that we ſhall remain neuter."

Sept. 4. Before the D. of G. took leave of his brother the D. of C. previous to his voyage, he talked very ſeriouſly with him on the impropriety and wickedneſs of his conduct, and entreated him, for the ſake of every one related to him, and for his own reputation, to reform. His R. H. enforced entreaties with tears, and, at the ſame time telling him, that his ingratitude and cruelty to Lady G. (who, however guilty, certainly did not deſerve puniſhment from him) had leſſened him more in the opinion of people of generous principles, than even the crime, great as it was, which he had committed with her; as in extenuation of the crime, he might, perhaps, plead a very ſtrong affection; but that nothing could be ſaid to palliate his behaviour to the Lady afterwards, which was mean and inhuman, and ſhewed a want of every ſocial feeling.

The above advice has ſince been the ſubſtance of a letter written to the D. of C. from Weymouth, by his truly royal and amiable brother.

We are informed, that the Right Honourable the Lord Mayor is furniſhing himſelf with particulars of a plan, to be preſented to the Houſe of Commons, at the opening of the next Seſſion, in order to lower the preſent exorbitant price of proviſions.

His Royal Highneſs the Duke of Parma has wrote the following letter with his own hand to Count Arcelli, Governor of the city of Parma.

" Count Governor. I am informed, that there are ſtill diſturbances in Parma, and that ſome perſons ſpeak in a raſh and inſolent ſtrain, ſince I cauſed my intentions to be declared to my people. I could not have thought that after I had made uſe of means dictated by my love for my ſubjects, they would force me to have recourſe to threats and puniſhments. But as my intention is, that tranquillity be entirely re-eſtabliſhed in Parma, I order you to take for that purpoſe ſuch meaſures as ſhall appear moſt effectual to you: If you judge it neceſſary, order the guard to be doubled; ſet patroles in the ſtreets, and when ever they meet above ſix perſons aſſembled, let them order them to diſperſe. Search for the authors of the ſeditious and inſolent ſpeeches, which I know have been ſpoken; if you find them, let them be ſecured, and give me an account. I know there are ſome Eccleſiaſtics among the number; tell the Biſhop to find out who they are, and get them arreſted.

Colorna, Auguſt 1. 1771. (Signed) FERDINAND."

" P. S. Count Governor. As I will have the above known to every body, get the incloſed printed this night, and let it be poſted up to-morrow all over Parma.

Colorna, Auguſt 1. 1771. (Signed) FERDINAND."

It is ſaid, that the Spaniards do not intend to take any notice of the operations of the Engliſh on the Miſſiſſippi, till a ſettlement is actually formed; when it is thought they will make capture thereof.

By ſome Gentlemen of veracity, who lately arrived from France, we are informed, that ſuch ſcenes of miſery preſented themſelves in their journey through that country, that they could not have credited them, had they not been eye-witneſſes; and that in every town, their carriages were ſo encircled by beggars, that it was with great difficulty they cleared themſelves from them, without doing ſome of them an injury.

Sept. 5. The Bonaventure, Capt. Blake, from Bonaventure and Gaſpey to the Weſt Indies, is loſt between the Iſlands of St. John, and Louiſburgh.

We hear, that the late inſtallation, which made ſo much noiſe, has occaſioned the records of knighthood to be carefully examined into, and it ſeems, a diſcovery is made that is like to be very diſagreeable to the poor Knights of Windſor. They have for many years been ſuffered to live at home with their families, or where it beſt ſuited their convenience, which is found to be very irregular; and they are now, by order of a Great Perſonage, all ſummoned to their apartments at Windſor Caſtle, with ſtrict orders for them to go to church twice every day with their uniform on, in order to keep up the dignity of the noble order of knighthood.

Among the many inſtances of female frailty, which furniſhes the converſation of the day, we are happy in relating a recent inſtance of female virtue.—A gentleman, who has made no ſmall figure in the beau monde, was ſome time ſince married to a moſt agreeable woman; ſoon after his marriage he lived in the moſt expenſive manner, and laviſhed vaſt ſums at Newmarket. He had not been long married before he grew neglectful of his Lady, frequently left gentlemen at home for her to entertain, and obliged her to accompany them to public places: The conſequence was, ſeveral of them uſed ſuch freedoms with her, as were by no means conſiſtent with either her delicacy or virtue. She, however, concealed the affronts ſhe received, leſt ſhe ſhould endanger the life of her huſband, till a certain nobleman, who is a married man, made her ſuch propoſals as ſhocked her, at the ſame time informing her, they were with her huſband's approbation. She flew to her huſband, who told her, ſhe would be wiſe to comply with his Lordſhip's offer, as thereby ſhe would ſecure a fine ſettlement to herſelf, and a good appointment for him; as he was ſorry to inform her, that he was not worth one guinea, and expected an execution in the houſe every moment. On receiving this infamous advice, ſhe turned from him with indignation, and returned to his Lordſhip, who told her he had already made her huſband a preſent of 300 l. and had gone too far to recede. She then told his Lordſhip, that ſince it was her huſband's deſire, ſhe begged his Lordſhip to get the ſettlement made out and bring it to her, in order that ſhe might conſult her attorney. His Lordſhip, in raptures, obeyed her commands; but no ſooner had ſhe the parchments in her poſſeſſion, than ſhe went to his Lordſhip's family, and delivered them up. They were charmed with her virtue, and with the revenge ſhe had taken of two perfidious men, and voluntarily between them made a ſettlement of 200l. per ann. on her for life, on which ſhe now ſubſiſts in Italy.

Sept. 6. A Letter from Stockholm, dated Aug. 13, ſays, "Though ſince the death of the late King, public affairs have been treated with tolerable unanimity, it appears, however, that the ſpirit of diſcord is not entirely extinguiſhed. Every day produces from the two parties ſome publication full of animoſity. But it is remarked, that the heads of thoſe parties are not concerned in them."

Another letter from Stockholm ſays, " A deſcription of the perſonal qualifications of our late King has been written by his Royal Succeſſor, and is conſidered as a very maſterly performance. Copies of it are to be taken and ſent to the different cities of this kingdom. His Majeſty employs a portion of his time in attending to public and national affairs: the reſt of the day is paſſed in reading, and ſuch other recreations as at once delight and improve the mind. After the cares for the happineſs of his ſubjects, the cultivation of the Belles Lettres ſeems to claim his attention."

A Noble Lord on foreign ſervice, who has lately had ſome diſputes with a certain governor, we hear, has made a ſatisfactory and honourable ſubmiſſion.

By a letter from Rochford, there is advice of the loſs of a rich French ſhip from Cape Francois, wherein the Merchants of Bourdeaux are concerned to the amount of 600,000 crowns.

Sept. 10. Letters from Breſt ſay, that ſome hundreds of the Engliſh ſhip-builders, who were employed in the King's Yard there, are ordered to Toulon, to expedite the fitting out of ſome men of war, ſaid to be deſtined for the French ſettlements in North-America.

It appears, from the navy regiſters kept in every ſea port town in France, that 40,000 ſea-men are enrolled in the French King's ſervice.

Sept. 17. Two Algerine xebeques have taken a Daniſh frigate of 20 guns in the Mediterranean, after an engagement of one hour, and have carried her into Algiers. The captain and ſome of the crew eſcaped in their long boat, whilſt the barbarians were boarding their frigate. They were ſoon after taken up by an Engliſh frigate, which went in purſuit of the xebeques, but without being able to come up with them; the account ſays, the Mediterranean ſwarms with theſe pirates.

We are aſſured, that a certain Lady, whoſe honourable ſpouſe is in the revenue, and has a country houſe near Sandwich, has ſmuggled near 15,000 l. worth of lace into this kingdom within theſe few months. O Miniſters! Miniſters! how dare you.

It is now ſaid the Parliament will meet for the diſpatch of buſineſs ſome time in November.

Laſt week Sir Robert Bernard and Col. Barry arrived in town from their travels; they have made the tour of Spain, Italy, and Portugal, where, it is ſaid, they picked up ſome material intelligence.

There is a current report that the merchants of London will eſpouſe the cauſe of Meſſrs. Aldermen Peers and Naſh at the enſuing election for Lord Mayor; if ſo, it is thought their connections in trade will carry the election.

A letter from a gentleman at Dunkirk, to his friend in town, mentions, that an embarkation of troops was carrying on with great expedition at that place, and at the different ſea-ports in France.

Saturday, advice was received by expreſs from Paris, to a merchant of this city, that an account was brought there of the ſailing of two fleets, one from Breſt, and the other from Toulon; that they had taken on board proviſions for ſix months, but to what part they were bound was kept a profound ſecret. It further ſays, that councils are daily held, and that Count de Guignes is preſent at all of them.

Arrived the John, White, from Boſton.

Reading, Sept. 14. Britain, who has lately engaged the public attention, by acknowledging himſelf to be one of the incendiaries employed to burn Portſmouth dock-yard, ſtill perſiſts in his former declaration, and ſeems greatly diſappointed, that no order has yet been received for his removal to London; he denies having the leaſt knowledge of Dudley, and is quite ſilent relative to the particulars of the fire; though he ſometimes appears fond of giving a detail of the various ſcenes of villainy in which he has been engaged; among others, he mentions having received a ſum of money in June 1770, (in conjunction with four more) to ſhoot a Great Perſon, in Hyde-park, which he ſays, would actually have been effected, had not his piſtol miſſed fire.

Deal, Sept. 15. Sailed the Harmony, Cockburn, for Boſton.

Graveſend, Sept. 15. Paſſed by the Paoli, Cazneau, from Boſton.

BOSTON, November 7.

We are informed, that the enſuing Thankſgiving affords matter of more ſerious thought, and general converſation, than any thing of the kind that has yet happened in New-England. Is it not amazing, indeed, that the Governor ſhould recommend it to the Miniſters and their congregations, " to return thanks to Almigh- " ty God, that he has been pleaſed to continue to them " their civil and religious privileges?" Many Gentlemen of character have declared, that in caſe their Miniſters ſhould read it as it ſtands in the Proclamation, they will immediately depart the meeting.

We have authority to ſay, that a number of the Rev. Paſtors of the churches in this town, are determined, not to offer up on the day of our Thankſgiving, the ſolemn mockery recommended to them by Mr. Hutchinſon in his Proclamation, " for continuing to us our " civil and religious privileges," which he well knows are Raviſhed from us.

On Monday arrived here, the brig Harmony, Capt. Alexander Coffin, from London, who informs us, that on the 6th of October, being in lat. 44: 9, N. long. 38: 35, W. he diſcovered a boat, which he lay to for; there were ten people in her, whom he with difficulty got on board, the ſea running high: They proved to be Capt. Joſeph Greenleaf, and the hands belonging to the ſnow Teddington, or rather a raft of timber, which ſailed from Newbury to London, in September laſt; who gave an account, that they loſt their rudder, and on the 1ſt of October foundered, being then in long. 34, W.—Capt. Coffin was not able to get the proviſions and the peoples' cloathing out of the boat, at the time he ſaved the people; made faſt the boat till the next morning when he took out all but the water and then veered the boat out about 50 fathom; in the night a hard gale of wind came up and parted her from them. —Having proviſions ſufficient and catching water, they arrived here in health.

We hear that the Maſter of a veſſel who run by Guadaloupe in the hurricane about the middle of September laſt, ſaw 17 ſail of veſſels on ſhore there.

Sunday morning arrived here the Deal Caſtle, of 24 guns, from Halifax.

SALEM, (NEW ENGLAND) November 5.

In the ſtorm, laſt Saturday night, a large Brigantine, with 280 hogſheads of molaſſes on board, belonging to Newbury-Port, and bound in there from the Weſt-Indies, commanded by Capt. Choate, in endeavouring to get into Cape Ann Harbour, ran upon the rocks in Brace's Cove and beat to pieces, ſo that the cargo as well as veſſel was entirely loſt; but the men were providentially all ſaved. We hear that Capt. Choate ſaid, if there had been any light on Eaſtern Point (the ſpot where the Cape-Ann gentlemen were ſolicitous to have a Light-Houſe built, in preference to Thatcher's Iſland, where one is now erecting,) he ſhould undoubtedly have ſaved his veſſel and cargo.

PHILADELPHIA, November 18.

The Merchants of this city being greatly pleaſed with the appointment of RICHARD PENN, Eſq; to the government of this province, and determined to expreſs their ſatisfaction in the moſt ſincere manner, appointed a committee, who waited on him with the MERCHANTS ADDRESS. At the ſame time, it was ſo contrived, that an entertainment was provided at the State-houſe, at which the principal merchants of this city, with other inhabitants of diſtinction, and a number of reſpectable ſtrangers, amounting to upwards of 350 in the whole, attended. His Honour the GOVERNOR accepted and anſwered the Addreſs with his uſual propriety and politeneſs, honoured the committee with his company, and walked with them to the State-houſe, where they joined the abovementioned gentlemen. A very genteel entertainment was ſerved up, and a number of loyal and patriotic toaſts were drank. Great feſtivity, mirth and humour (heightened by the elegance of the entertainment—the ſocial virtues and ſatisfaction that reached the heart) rendered the whole, perhaps, as agreeable as any thing of the kind ever known in this country. The bells of this city were rang, and a number of cannon diſcharged on the occaſion,

To the Honourable RICHARD PENN, Eſq; Lieutenant-Governor, and Commander in Chief, of the Province of Pennſylvania, and Counties of Newcaſtle, Kent and Suſſex, on Delaware.

SIR,

THE MERCHANTS of PHILADELPHIA beg leave to expreſs their ſatisfaction in your appointment to the government of this province and to congratulate you on your ſafe arrival.

Senſible of the good effects derived to ſociety from a well regulated commerce; and of its extenſive and beneficial influence in this province, we cannot doubt, that under your government, the trade of Philadelphia will be favoured with every neceſſary encouragement.

Our knowledge of your private character, and the univerſal prepoſſeſſion of the inhabitants of Pennſylvania in favour of your adminiſtration, give us the beſt aſſurance, that in every public meaſure you will be directed by the principles of juſtice and equity; and that your government will prove eaſy to yourſelf, agreeable and happy to the people under your care: And, with much ſincerity, we aſſure you, the Merchants of this city will neglect no means that can poſſibly contribute to that deſirable event.

THE GOVERNOR's ANSWER.

"GENTLEMEN,

"THE ſatisfaction you expreſs upon my appointment to the government, and the congratulations you offer upon my ſafe arrival among you, cannot but afford me a very ſenſible pleaſure, as they give me reaſon to indulge myſelf in the agreeable expectations of living happily in a country, to which I am very ſincerely and warmly attached.

"Thoſe prepoſſeſſions in my favour, which you have ſo kindly entertained, as they are highly flattering to me, ſo will they very naturally render me ſolicitous to merit and juſtify them.

"I have ever conſidered the Merchants of this city, as the moſt reſpectable and independent claſs of people; and, they may reſt aſſured, that, whenever I may have the power, I ſhall not want the inclination to ſupport their particular intereſts.

"I am already greatly indebted to their kindneſs and hoſpitality, and I heartily wiſh, that I may hereafter ſucceed in cultivating ſuch a ſocial intercourſe as may ſecure me a continuance of their favourable ſentiments."

On Wedneſday laſt embarked for London, in the ſhip Britannia, Captain Falconer, Mr. WILLIAM YOUNG, jun. of Pennſylvania, Botaniſt to their Majeſties. This celebrated Genius, we are informed, has made a freſh collection of the moſt rare and unknown plants, and other natural productions of America, to preſent to the King and Queen, and to ſeveral Lords and Gentlemen in England.

We hear, an eminent innholder in this city, bought lately a ticket in a certain lottery; and being determined to ſecure good luck to himſelf, went to conſult a conjurer, whether the ticket was a fortunate or unfortunate one. In order to try the wizard's ſkill, the adventurer previouſly propoſed, that he ſhould tell him of which hundred the number of his ticket was, which the conjurer happily gueſſing, the innholder rejoicing, now thought, he could not fail of knowing whether his ticket would draw a prize or not; conſequently he ſhewed his ticket, when it was condemned by the magician as unfortunate; whereupon, the poſſeſſor went to the gentleman, of whom he had bought the ticket, to change it for a fortunate one, who, not being of the ſame belief as the hoſt, very readily complied with his requeſt; and behold, a few days ago, the ticket, condemned by the conjurer, as unfortunate, came up with ſeven hundred pounds, and the ticket the innholder had got in exchange was a blank. The poor deceived man has been adviſed to ſue the conjurer for damages; but we do not hear yet what method he will take to recover his loſs.

On Tueſday, the 5th of this inſtant, was married at the ſeat of Mark Bird, Eſq; in Berks county, JAMES WILLSON, Eſq; of Carliſle, to Miſs RACHEL BIRD.

On the 14th ult. the ſhip St. Andrew, Captain Poſglove, from the Bay of Honduras for this place, was loſt on the Northern Triangles. The Captain and crew, we hear, are all ſaved.

HENRY MILLER,

PRINTER, in RACE-STREET, at PHILADELPHIA,

A COMPLETE GERMAN GRAMMAR,

IN TWO PARTS.

THE firſt Part, containing true, plain and eaſy Inſtructions for acquiring fundamentally, in a ſhort time, the KNOWLEDGE and USE, both in ſpeaking and writing, of the GERMAN TONGUE. The ſecond Part is enriched with familiar Words, Phraſes, peculiar Expreſſions, proverbial Sentences and Dialogues. To which are added, for further Application, ſeveral Pieces of News, Letters and ſome moral Pieces, both in proſe and verſe. Together with an ample Vocabulary, in alphabetical order. By JOHN JAMES BACHMAIR. M. A. This Grammar needs no other recommendatory panegyric than to ſay, that the Author had Univerſity Learning, and for a great number of years, made the teaching of the Engliſh and German Languages, in London, his Profeſſion; in which time, he compoſed and publiſhed this Grammar; as alſo, another for the Germans to learn Engliſh: both are univerſally allowed to be the beſt that ever were publiſhed. They have hitherto been imported from England; but the Book is now, and has been for ſome time out of print, and there is no probability of its being ever reprinted in London: Wherefore it has been judged neceſſary to make a new edition of it in this country, where it is ſo much wanted. The Price will be conſiderably reduced. And, as the Night Schools are now opened at this preſent time, both Maſters and Scholars may have the printed ſheets, at the aboveſaid Editor's, as they come out of the preſs weekly, in order to enable them to go thro' the Grammar againſt the time of its Publication; and keeping the ſheets clean, may then have the Book bound according to their liking.

Since all human performances are ſubject to imperfections, Mr. BACHMAIR's Grammar is not ſuppoſed to be faultleſs: Wherefore, the preſent Editor has not only corrected the Errata of the preſs, which are found in the London Edition, but alſo, to render it more perfect, the evident miſtakes which thro' inadvertency have eſcaped the notice of the Author. The preſent Edition will alſo contain ſome uſeful and neceſſary additions.

It is not in the leaſt doubted, but that thoſe Gentlemen who have already encouraged this undertaking in its infancy, which muſt be of great utility to the Public, will ſtill continue their zeal for the good of their country manufacture, and induce them to promote my endeavours in ſo laudable an undertaking.

Orders and Patterns are deſired to be ſent to Mr. ALEXANDER BARTRAM, who will immediately forward them to the factory, and will always be ſupplied with a large Aſſortment ready at his Store in Market-ſtreet, which he will ſell on the ſame terms as at the factory.

WIT AND IMPUDENCE.

A Gentleman having made an entertainment for ſome friends, one of his ſervants carrying a neat's tongue up ſtairs to the dining-room, he ſtumbled, and the tongue ſlipped out of the diſh; the maſter, hearing the clatter, run to the head of the ſtairs to know the cauſe, which being informed of, he was ſomewhat angry; but the fellow begged pardon, and ſaid he hoped he ſhould be excuſed, as it was only a lapſus linguæ, (a ſlip of the tongue) which facetious turn ſo pleaſed the gentleman and his company, that his wit was rewarded by the gift of a ſhilling a-piece from all preſent. Another waiting at the table at the ſame time, and ſeeing the reward conferred on his fellow-ſervant, and remembering the words, was determined to try his luck; and accordingly, being ſent up with a ſir-loin of beef, ſtumbled on purpoſe, and the joint fell out of the diſh, which greatly provoked the gentleman, when the ignorant blockhead ſaid it was only a lapſus linguæ; for which he got a hearty drubbing, and was kicked down ſtairs.

To the PRINTER of the PENNSYLVANIA PACKET.

SIR,

By giving the following PIECE a place in your weekly Paper, you will much oblige your conſtant reader,

J——. P——.

A REBUS ON THE MAID I ADMIRE.

THE name of an iſland on Afric's dry coaſt,
Conjoin'd with the ſenſe that mankind eſteem moſt;
Add theſe to a Beaſt, oft in Barbary ſeen,
Haraſs'd much by hunters, for ſake of his ſkin.
This compound will give you the name of the fair,
For whom I now languiſh 'twixt hope and deſpair;
For whom, all enjoyments on earth I'd reſign,
If the dear, lovely charmer would call herſelf mine!

J——. P——.

ADVICE TO THE LADIES.

'TIS not the ruby lip and ſparkling eye,
Can raiſe a paſſion that ſhall never die;
Beauty, the brighteſt, is the fraileſt flow'r,
To what amounts its weak, but boaſted pow'r?
Perhaps ſome giddy, thoughtleſs youth to warm,
While bloom the graces of the lovely form:
But, ah! how ſhort the pride of beauty laſts,
Which ends with youth, and pain or ſickneſs blaſts!
Be then adviſ'd betimes, ye young and fair,
And let ſublimer charms engage your care;
With ev'ry grace of mind attempt to ſhine,
With virtue ſenſe, with beauty ſweetneſs join:
With theſe adorn'd, when beauty is no more,
You ſtill to charm ſhall have the pleaſing pow'r;
And not a ſmile ſhall be beſtow'd in vain,
But laſting as your worth ſhall be your reign.

FOR the benefit of JOHN M'LEAN, (Inſtructor of the German Flute) will be performed at the Aſſembly-Room, in Lodge-Alley, a CONCERT of MUSIC, VOCAL and INSTRUMENTAL, to begin preciſely at ſix o'clock in the evening, on Thurſday the 5th of December. The Concert will conſiſt of two Acts, commencing and ending with favourite Overtures, performed by a full band of Muſic, with trumpets, kettle-drums, and every inſtrument that can be introduced with propriety. The performance will be interſperſed with the moſt pleaſing and ſelect pieces, compoſed by approved authors. A Solo will be played on the German Flute, by John M'Lean; and the whole will conclude with an Overture compoſed (for the occaſion) by Philip Roth, Maſter of the Band of Muſic belonging to his Majeſty's Royal Regiment of North Britiſh Fuſiliers. Several Gentlemen who wiſh to encourage and reward merit, have ſuggeſted this public amuſement, and have deſigned to honour with their protection the perſon for whoſe benefit it is intended; one inſtance of their condeſcending goodneſs, he will ever gratefully acknowledge, in conſenting it ſhould be known that they have been pleaſed to offer their aſſiſtance in the performance; which every poſſible means will be uſed to render agreeable and entertaining to the company, for whoſe further ſatisfaction it is alſo propoſed, that after the Concert there ſhould be a Ball; and, on this account, the muſic begins early. As ſoon as the ſecond Act is finiſhed, the uſual arrangement will be made for dancing.

COMMENTARY

ON

ARCHBISHOP SECKER'S LETTER,

TO THE

RIGHT HONOURABLE HORATIO WALPOLE,

CONCERNING

BISHOPS IN AMERICA.

——Meditor eſſe affabilis,
Et bene procedit.——
Paulatim plebem primulùm facio meam.

MARSHAM, from FALMOUTH, and Capt. MILLER, from LONDON, both arrived at NEW-YORK, we have the following Advices, viz.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Auguſt 3.

THE 22d of laſt month Mr. Thugut, Reſident here from the Court of Vienna, being invited to go to the Porte, went there incog. with his Interpreter, and had a very long conference with the Kaimacan or Vice Vizier, and Reis-Effendi, in preſence of the Grand Seignior's Interpreter. Since that time the Miniſter of their Imperial Majeſties, and the Court of Berlin, have ſeveral times repreſented to the principal Members of the Government, that to get out of the critical ſtate in which the Porte at preſent finds itſelf, and to avoid greater loſſes, it was neceſſary it ſhould make no further delay in accepting the conditions of peace offered to it by their reſpective Courts, in quality of Mediators. What effect theſe Repreſentations have produced is hitherto unknown; but this week, money to the amount of many millions of Piaſtres, have been drawn out of the Sultan's Treaſury and ſent to the Grand Vizier's army.

Venice, Aug. 24. By an expreſs arrived at Corfou we learn, that the Ottoman fleet of fifty ſix ſail ſtrong, having ventured to paſs the Dardanelles, the Ruſſians under Admiral d'Arff, had attacked and purſued it into the port of Modron, where they were all burnt, excepting four Carravelles, which fell into the hands of the Muſcovites.

Warſaw, Sept. 4. Some letters from the Danube inform us of the capture of the Oczaknow, by the Ruſſians, but advices of ſuch importance ſhould come better confirmed, before we can give abſolute credit to them.

Cologne, Sept. 6. The Court of Vienna, far from diſcontinuing their warlike preparations, ſeems to be augmenting them, as they are now raiſing 3000 recruits, and have lately given orders for 40,000 ſword-blades, &c. from Sohlingen.

Paris, Sept. 6. Letters from Breſt adviſe, that they have received orders to arm ſix frigates, which are to be commanded by M. de Courcy.

LONDON, Sept. 7.

It is ſaid, a Great Perſonage has ſtrongly recommended the moſt ſerious attention to be paid to the regulating the prices of proviſion, and that he will exert his authority as a ſanction to what ſhall be thought the moſt ſalutary ſcheme.

There are three different intereſts at preſent among the people of this kingdom, viz. of land, money, and labour; which, though the natural ſupports of each other while a due equilibrium is maintained, yet when too great a prevalency of either takes place, it always proves injurious to them all.

We are told, it is under contemplation, to appoint a Maitre de Police in every poſt town in this kingdom, for the purpoſe of enquiring into the names, families, connexions, &c. of all foreigners, in the ſame manner as is done in France: A regulation, which, it is imagined, will prove of great utility to this kingdom.

Sept. 10. In the laſt exhibition of the Royal Academy, there was a very fine whole length painting of Mr. Garrick in Richard the Third, by Mr. Dance, which was univerſally allowed to be the beſt likeneſs of that incomparable actor yet done. One morning as Mr. Garrick was coming down ſtairs from the exhibition room, he was met by a Nobleman of his acquaintance, who aſked him how he did? "Why, faith, my Lord, replied Roſcius, but ſo ſo this morning, but if your Lordſhip will but walk up ſtairs, you'll ſee me as well as ever I was in my life."

From the extent of our American poſſeſſions, it is thought that all kinds of wine and ſilks, which are now purchaſed from France, Italy, and the Eaſt Indies, might be bought of our fellow-ſubjects.

Since the laſt Seſſion in July, there have been pretty near 200 perſons committed to the ſeveral goals for divers felonies, and who are now in Newgate for trial at the enſuing Old Bailey Seſſions.

Sept. 12. A certain noble defaulter has lately borrowed 50,000 l. from a rich Commoner, in order to make up his firſt payment.

By a gentleman who arrived laſt Monday from Paris, we have advice, that the E—— of S———h is ridiculed and laughed at in all public converſations in that city, for his weakneſs in ſhewing the French Ambaſſador, and other Frenchmen, the ſeveral dock-yards, &c. which have enabled them to give a better account of the ſtate of our navy than the Engliſh themſelves. He further ſays, that they have got a drawing of the late conflagration at Portſmouth dock-yard, and another of the ſtate it was in the beginning of laſt July.

The Earl of Rochford, Secretary of State for the Southern Department, is ſaid to be the only great officer, except the Premier, who at preſent attends ſtrictly to the duty of his office, in which reſpect his Lordſhip has exceeded all who have gone before him for ſome time paſt.

Several foreigners of great diſtinction lately arrived here, for the ſake of greater privacy, or ſome other political motive, have at one time cauſed it to be reported, that they had ſet out on their return home; at another time, that they had, or intended to ſet out on a tour to the moſt noted places in this kingdom; but it is certain, they ſtill continue at their reſpective lodgings at the weſt end of the town.

The Prince of Heſſe Darmſtadt, lately arrived here, is ſo handſome, that he is already become the admiration of all the Court Ladies.

The Prince of Conti, who lately arrived here incog. we are told, is not gone home, as reported, but is actually making the tour of England, in the character of a private foreigner.

It is ſaid, that new work is preparing for the Commons by a certain illuſtrious youth, who ſeems to exiſt only in ſcenes of gallantry, and to form connexions with the fair only to betray them.

A gentleman lately returned from abroad, being aſked by a friend, if he did not find England improved? anſwered, yes, Sir, it is indeed improved, for there is now much oſtentation, but little ſubſtance, much pomp, but little hoſpitality, and much expence, but little frugality; our public debts are increaſed, but our public credit is declined; we have public dependency, without public œconomy.

There is now living near Brompton, in Cumberland, a woman, named Margaret Forſter, aged 139 years, who has a daughter, aged 107.

Sept. 13. The Harcourt Eaſt-Indiaman, Capt. Nathaniel Paul, buried many men in the weſt coaſt of Sumatra: The whole of his crew were down in fevers, inſomuch, that he was obliged to have 100 Caffries, or Blacks, to work his ſhip. She left England in February 1770. The above fever was ſo infectious, that the healthy people would not attend on the ſick. The chief officer, Mr. Charles Ward, died of the fever. He had his ſhip waſhed with boiling vinegar every day.

Sept. 14. Lady G———r is at preſent at a ſmall houſe near Barnes in Surry, but it is ſaid, that her Ladyſhip has declared her intentions of going abroad, of reſiding there for life, and of ſecluding herſelf entirely from the world.

In the reign of Edward the Third, the nation was governed by a regency of the King's mother, and her infamous paramour, but as ſoon as that wiſe young Prince came to years of diſcretion, he ſhook off his own fetters, and relieved his people from a grievous yoke, under which they had long groaned; nothing ſhews the wiſdom of that Prince more ſtrongly than this firſt inſtance of his ſuperior underſtanding; for our own hiſtory, nay our own obſervation, from what paſſes in other countries furniſhes proof, how hard it is to eſcape from the toils, and break through the entanglements of nature and filial affection; and that a King, though not blind to the wicked deſigns of his mother, may, notwithſtanding the remonſtrance of his people, ſuffer his loving ſubjects to be ſcourged by the iron rod of an uſurped regency for the whole courſe of his life.

A veſſel lately arrived from Minorca, brings advice, that all the places of ſtrength in that iſland have received ſuch repair as to render them almoſt impregnable; ſo that nothing but a want of proviſions (which it is hoped the Engliſh Miniſters, will provide againſt) can hinder them from ſtanding out a long ſiege againſt the utmoſt efforts of any enemy.

Sept. 16. A Lady from Pennſylvania has finiſhed a curious picture of the King in needle-work, which was preſented by her to his Majeſty a few days ſince.

Sept. 17. It is thought, from the cool enquiry into the Portſmouth buſineſs, the guilty perſons are not likely to undergo a fiery trial; and ſome great perſons are rather backward in meddling in this affair leaſt they ſhould burn their fingers; and every method is deviſing to prevent Mr. Wilkes, whom the Miniſterial tools call the Incendiary, from ſtirring the coals, as they are apprehenſive it may ſet the whole nation in a flame.

Copy of a letter from Britain now in confinement in Reading Jail, to a ſecond noble Lord.

TO LORD ——.

MY LORD,

"As the late fire at Portſmouth dock-yard engroſſes part of the public attention, I hope your Lordſhip will abſolve me from my promiſe of ſecrecy made to the Under Secretaries, when down at Reading, and give me leave to lay the whole ſtate of the above fire before the Public; which I intend to do, in a ſeries of letters to my friend in London, and to be publiſhed in the public papers. I hope your Lordſhip will not deny me this requeſt, as it is but reaſonable that I ſhould have ſome hearing to clear myſelf from the falſe reports that have been propagated by the Miniſtry. They have declared, "that I want a ſum of money, and my liberty out of priſon, which induced me to declare myſelf concerned in the above fire." This you know, my Lord, is falſe. When I ſolicited a pardon, I was then at liberty in London; and in my letter to the Lord Mayor, I informed him, "that I wanted no fee or reward whatever but his Majeſty's pardon." In the ſaid letter I owned being concerned in ſetting fire to Portſmouth dock-yard, the writer of a treaſonable letter ſent to the Lord Mayor, dated June 13, wherein "his ——— is expreſsly called a Blockhead, his —— and dignity threatened to be in danger, and plainly told that the government of the —— empire will be given to one more worthy of it, before July the 10th, 1772." I owned myſelf a party concerned in attempting his ———'s life, and thoſe were the crimes I wanted a pardon for. Now his Majeſty's pardon to me is only conditional; in the Gazette for July 31ſt it ſays, "his Majeſty is hereby pleaſed to promiſe his moſt gracious pardon to the writer of the ſaid letter for the offences therein mentioned, provided information ſhall be given to one of the principal Secretaries of State, upon which the parties concerned may be apprehended and brought to juſtice."

Now, my Lord, as I ſaid before, this pardon is only conditional; therefore if my information is not ſufficient to bring the parties concerned to juſtice, why do you forgive me the other offences? If a poor Printer only print the truth you are ready to devour him. Pray, what will you do now? Nothing, my Lord! You dare not! I do not crave your favour, but once more DARE you to bring me to a trial. You know you had information ſufficient, provided you had exerted yourſelf as a —— of State ought to have done. It is not the poſt you are in that is to be deſpiſed for the neglect, but the man who fills that poſt. There is a clerk in one of your offices (as I told the Under-Secretaries) who gave the French intelligence of your ſecret councils; his name is ——— ———. Will you deny now that you have not information enough to ſecure that clerk? I do not doubt but you will. You know, my Lord, I deſired you to confront me with Count Guigne long before he left England; if I was in the wrong, why did not you do it? You have been called upon to publiſh my depoſition; why don't you? Your Secretaries were ſo careful to keep it from the public, that they would not let the Mayor of Reading ſee the leaſt tittle of it. Nay, moreover, you have debarred me the uſe of pen, ink, and paper; and I do not doubt but as ſoon as you read this letter, my keeper will have orders from you to ſhut me up in a dungeon; but if you do order it, the public will ſoon be appriſed of it; and then they may judge of your conduct as they think proper.

Before I take my leave of your Lordſhip, permit me to return you my moſt humble thanks, for the pains you have taken to propagate a report that I am inſane; and as a proof of my gratitude, I aſſure your Lordſhip, that I will prove ſome of your dear Friends traitors to their King and Country; and the public may be aſſured, that Tower-Hill will be found a more neceſſary place than Bedlam.

I am, my Lord,
Your Lordſhip's moſt obt. hble. Servt,
Reading Goal, Sept. 14, 1771. JONATHAN BRITAIN."

The emiſſaries of our old enemy the French, as well as the Jacobite Miniſters, are attempting to deſtroy all credit of the Portſmouth ſtory, by filling the Papers with improbable lies and ridiculous witticiſms, upon this ſerious buſineſs: It is certain, ſome of the ſtore-houſes were deſtroyed: It is certain, the fire broke out in different places at once, and was occaſioned by deſign; and it is no leſs certain, that unleſs prevented by induſtry, and the favour of Providence, the miſchief had ſpread to the whole yard, and the nation been expoſed to the malice of our inveterate foe, the mean inſidious French. Is this an object of laughter to Engliſhmen? Does not every man in the iſland ſhudder at the ſtory but a falſe Scot, and a Scottiſh Jacobite, the curſe of England and the tools of France.

It is now aſſerted for certain, that no change whatever will take place in A———n, at leaſt till next Spring, a truth which the generality of the public are very unwilling to imbibe after all their late high-raiſed expectations.

It is ſaid, that a certain great Officer was wholly diſregarded laſt levee day, notwithſtanding the many efforts to attract obſervation, from which it is conjectured that his proſperous ſtar is ſet never to riſe again.

Sept. 18. A gentleman of fortune, famous for his mechanical abilities, has lately preſented his Majeſty with a cane, in the head of which is contained a watch that will go 21 days without winding.

Advice is received from Peterſburgh, that Prince Dalgorouki has taken Baluclawa, where he found a great quantity of ſhip-timber, &c. a fine copious port; and that the Ruſſian fleet from Aſoph, is at Caffa, whereby Conſtantinople is in great terror.

Sept. 20. The public may be aſſured, that the Miniſtry are in actual poſſeſſion of other information reſpecting the conflagration of Portſmouth dock, than what has been given them either by Dudley or Britain; and that the ſaid information will be ſcrupulouſly diſcuſſed at the meeting of the Parliament, when ſome great men will be called to account for their wilful negligence in ſuffering not only Count de Guignes, but ſome other perſons, employed by the French Court, to withdraw themſelves from this kingdom ſubſequent to ſuch information.

Yeſterday, there was a private Board of Admiralty, at which, it was ſaid, Dudley was examined.

The Earl of Bute was yeſterday at St. James's, and aſſiſted at the council.

The States General have ordered all their barrier towns to be garriſoned and put in a poſture of defence.

It is reported, that the whole force of Spain will ſhortly be exerted againſt the Ruſſians, and if ſo, that England will be engaged in the quarrel.

Thirty ſhips of the line are ſaid to be at Cadiz, and that ſixteen are completely manned and fitted for the ſea.

Letters from Venice ſay, the Ruſſians have not been ſo proſperous as repreſented, and that they have not been able to ſtop up the paſſage of the Dardanelles, &c.

Sept. 21. Yeſterday his Majeſty came from Richmond to St. James's, where there was a levee; after which Lords North and Suffolk had a long conference with his Majeſty, who afterwards returned to Richmond.

A Board of Admiralty was held yeſterday, at the breaking up of which, expreſſes were ſent to the Commiſſioners of the ſeveral dock-yards of Portſmouth, Plymouth, Chatham and Sheerneſs.

Yeſterday evening, Lords North and Suffolk ſet out of town for their reſpective country ſeats.

The Earl of Hertford, Lord Chamberlain, ſet out of town yeſterday for his ſeat at Sunborn, in Suffolk.

The King of Spain has of late, through his Ambaſſador at this Court, we are aſſured, been very profuſe in his profeſſions to our Court of his ſincere intention of promoting tranquillity and good underſtanding between the two Crowns. This ſo pleaſed his M——y, that he deſired his conſent to make Prince Mazarino's Lady a preſent of ſome curious birds, which was done. But for all this courteous behaviour, his Catholic Majeſty's ſole intention is to allure our Miniſtry, by theſe kinds of bait, 'till opportunity enables him to throw off his maſk with ſecurity.

It is again ſtrongly reported, that a change in the law department will take place before the firſt of Michaelmas term next.

A great Officer of State, on a particular diſguſt (ſaid to be relative to ſome proceedings reſpecting the enquiries about the firing of the dock-yard at Portſmouth) refuſed to attend the laſt council for ſome time; and did not acquieſce at laſt, till he had received the poſitive commands of his maſter.

Lord Rochford is certainly become the greateſt favourite of his maſter of all the oſtenſible Miniſters; and, indeed, if his Lordſhip's aſſiduity (his attention to buſineſs being ſingularly indefatigable) was employed on matters for the general good, he would deſervedly ſtand the firſt in public, as well as ſovereign favour.

An enquiry is making after the perſon who made the dye, by which ſeveral halfpence have been ſtruck, having Britannia on the one ſide, and on the other an head, with an hatchet over it.

We are informed, that the preſent Lord Mayor's friends have canvaſſed for him the wards of Farringdon and Cheap, without receiving a ſingle denial; and that the like ſucceſs has attended the Shelburnite candidates in Billingſgate ward.

KINGSTON, (JAMAICA) Sept. 14.

On Sunday laſt, a ſmall ſloop arrived from Carthagena, by whom we have the melancholy news of the loſs of the ſloop Charming Sally, Captain Scot, from this iſland, on that coaſt, and the cruel murder of the Captain and his whole crew, except two Curracoa Mulattoe men, ſuppoſed to be committed by a Mulattoe, trading on the Spaniſh coaſt, a native of this iſland, who being tempted by the ſucceſs Captain Scot had met on this voyage, and his having on board a conſiderable ſum of money, killed the Captain himſelf, and with the aſſiſtance of the people he had with him, deſtroyed the crew: On their accompliſhing ſo far of their horrid deſign, they took the money out of the veſſel, cut her adrift, and let her drive againſt the rocks, by which means ſhe was ſoon deſtroyed.

CHARLESTOWN, (S. CAROLINA) Oct. 24.

We are informed that Admiral Sir George Rodney, who commands his Majeſty's ſquadron ſtationed at Jamaica, &c. having lately ſent two ſhips to Carthagena, to demand the releaſe of ſome hundreds of Britiſh ſubjects, who have been moſt diſgracefully ſuffered to remain impriſoned there, and at other places, ſome of them for a number of years, and not only compelled to work on the fortifications, but alſo otherwiſe treated as ſlaves; and the Spaniſh Government have refuſed to deliver them up; he was preparing to go with his whole fleet to make a demand of them—having no private trade to carry on with the Spaniards, to which he fears ſuch a conduct will give interruption.

Oct. 31. The trial of Dr. John Haly came on at the ſeſſions, who was arrainged for murder, for the death of Peter De Lancey, Eſq; in a duel. This trial began at eight o'clock on Saturday morning, before the moſt crowded audience that ever was aſſembled there on any occaſion, and was not over till after ſeven in the evening, when the Jury, after having been out only a few minutes, convinced (we may preſume) that there was not the leaſt degree of malice on his part, brought in their verdict guilty of Manſlaughter.

BOSTON, November 14.

We hear, conſiderable bets have been laid within theſe few days, with great odds, that before the 10th day of May next, letters will be received from the miniſtry, ſignifying his ——— entire approbation of Mr. Hutchinſon's proclamation for a thankſgiving, conceived in terms ſo much to the honour of God, his people, and true religion; and that it is his ——— will and pleaſure, that the ſame be recorded in the minutes of council, in which they reſolve, that the piece ſigned Junius Americanus is "falſe, groundleſs and malicious," and that Mr. Hutchinſon, will at the ſame time, receive orders from the miniſtry, to negative ſuch of the council as were then preſent, and did not vote for it, in caſe they ſhould be again choſen.

SALEM, (NEW ENGLAND) November 12.

Laſt Tueſday Mr. Bezaleel Carlton, of Bradford, in croſſing the ferry between that place and Haverhill, fell over the ſide of the boat, and was drowned. He has left a wife and five children.

Capt. David Maſury, in the brig Greyhound, bound in here from Madeira, in the ſtorm, laſt Friday night, ran aſhore upon Ipſwich Beech, but is like to be got off without ſuſtaining much damage.

NEW-YORK, November 21.

A French brig from Hiſpaniola, bound for ſome port in France, laden with ſugar, coffee, hides and indigo, was wrecked on the Caicos Bank, about the middle of September.—The crew were ſaved and arrived at Hiſpaniola. Several wreckers, that were on the 20th of Sept. at work on the above wreck, were forced away by a violent gale of wind, and with difficulty eſcaped a ſhipwreck themſelves.

The brig Tom, Capt. Woods, from Jamaica, the 16th of October, off the eaſt end of Jamaica, ſpoke with the brig Nancy, Capt. French; and the Polly, Capt. Shields; both from Philadelphia, bound for Jamaica.

The Packet that ſailed from hence the 8th of Auguſt laſt, is arrived in England.

PHILADELPHIA, November 25.

We hear from Chriſtiana-Bridge, in Newcaſtle county, that the numbers, &c. of the China Manufactory Lottery, are now rolling up, and that it is the poſitive deſign of the Managers, abſolutely to draw the Lottery on the ſecond Monday of December next.

On Saturday laſt, the brig Two Friends, Capt. Peters, arrived here in 36 days from Calais. On coming up our Bay, the veſſel run aſhore, which detained them ſome time; but ſhe was luckily got off again without receiving any damage.

THE
AMERICAN BALSAM,

After the ſtudy and labour of many years,
Found out and prepared by Dr. HILL,
PHYSICIAN in LONDON:
Member of the Imperial Academy of GERMANY.

And ſold by Mr. WILLIAM YOUNG, at his place in Kingceſs, near the Lower Ferry, on Schuylkill, Philadelphia, and no other perſon except thoſe he ſhall appoint: Price Three Shillings and Nine Pence a bottle; or, by the dozen, at the rate of Three Shillings and Three Pence a bottle.

London, June 5, 1770. J. HILL.

THIS is an improvement upon all former Balſams; poſſeſſing their virtues in a higher degree; and freed from their defects.

It is a rich, comforting, nouriſhing, and healing Medicine. It ſtrengthens the ſtomach; opens all obſtructions whatſoever; and is certain, (even beyond a thought) in the cure of the Rheumatiſm, Gravel, Colic, Jaundice, and all kinds of Weakneſſes. It is alſo an excellent Medicine in the Hypochondriacal Diſeaſe; it gives great relief in Headachs; and in Coughs and Conſumptions it has no ſuperior; even the Hooping Cough in children will be conquered by this Medicine.

It is alſo the beſt and readieſt cure in the world for Catarrhs, Sore Throats, and Aſthmas; it cures Hectics, and Waſting of the Fleſh; and is excellent for all perſons who have lax fibres. It ſtrengthens the brain; aſſiſts the memory; and is good againſt barrenneſs. It is at all times a ſovereign cure for lowneſs of ſpirits. The mind itſelf is naturally cheerful, eaſy, and happy; free it from bodily diſorders, and it will always feel and enjoy itſelf. This will be done in all caſes by this Cordial Medicine; as it recruits and reſtores that mild and friendly balſam to the blood, upon which alone true health depends. The injuries of that moſt eſſential part of the vital fluid generally take their firſt riſe from colds, which this Medicine remedies, if taken on the occaſion: every one therefore ſhould have it at hand; for 'tis much better to prevent diſeaſes than to cure them.

The doſe is forty, fifty, or ſixty drops, in a tea-cup of water, at night going to bed, and at twelve at noon. They need not fear relief from this, who have tried other things without ſucceſs.

This Balſam is prepared from ſome new American plants, ſent to England by that ingenious Gentleman Mr. WILLIAM YOUNG, of Pennſylvania, Botaniſt to their Majeſties the King and Queen of Great Britain: and by great numbers of cures has been proved to be ſo noble a Medicine for its purpoſe, as probably was never heretofore prepared ſince the creation of the world: by it proper uſe, as directed in theſe bills, it will infallibly cure the above-mentioned diſeaſes, which the American inhabitants are in particular often afflicted with, from the too frequent and ſudden change of the weather from hot to cold. As this Medicine is prepared from the American Plants, no wonder it muſt have the beſt effect in that country, as it is moſt natural to the conſtitution of the people.

In the year 1763, Mr. WILLIAM YOUNG, junior, brought over to England the beſt collection of American plants ever received there, with their names and places, in a manner that ſhewed him born with a genius for Botany. The King and Queen directed Dr. Hill to improve that genius, by right inſtructions, and honoured him with a penſion. Amongſt the plants brought by this Gentleman, were thoſe of which this ineſtimable Balſam is prepared, which Dr. Hill now raiſes in his own garden. The ſecret of the preparation he has entruſted to no perſon in the world; but, in gratitude to the young Gentleman, has appointed his father, Mr. WILLIAM YOUNG, ſenior, of Kingceſs, near Philadelphia, the only capital vender of them in all America, appointing whom he pleaſes under him.

Juſt imported in the Carolina, Capt. Loxley, and ſome time before in the America, Capt. Lattimer, and in the Hawke, Capt. Williams, from London,
